Daniel C. Roper Named Minister of U.S. to Canada

72-year-old Former Commerce Secretary Chosen By Roosevelt To Succeed Armour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt sent to the Senate today the name of Daniel C. Roper, former Secretary of Commerce, to be United States Minister to Canada.

Mr. Roper has been out of office since the middle of last December. His nomination to the diplomatic post brought him into a new field of service, although he has been in government work almost continuously since 1894.

When he left the Commerce Department post, later filled by Harry Hopkins, the South Carolinian, approaching his 72nd birthday, explained he had to give "needed attention" to his personal affairs.

Born in Marlboro County, South Carolina, in 1867, he was graduated from Trinity College, now Duke University. He taught school before entering the legislature at 25.

He became a Senate clerk in Washington in 1894, served subsequently in the census bureau, Post Office Department, Tariff Commission and as Internal Revenue Collector.

Norman Armour, appointed ambassador to Chile in 1938, was the last United States minister to Canada.

Voters Go to Polls In Vancouver

Cars With Banners For Conservative Denied Sent Out By Party

VANCOUVER (CP) — Voters went to the polls in 126 precincts in the Vancouver Centre provincial riding today to choose a successor to the late Alderman Fred Crone, Liberal member of the British Columbia Legislature.

Voters have a choice of four candidates — Liberal, Conservative, Co-operative Commonwealth or Socialist.

Voting was light in the first hour. The polls will remain open until 8 tonight.

Voters can return a Liberal member by electing Alderman H. L. Corey or put Alderman Halford Wilson into office as a Conservative. Mrs. Stuart Jamieson is running for the C.C.F. and J. H. Burrough, logger, seeks election as a Socialist.

R. M. Edgar, returning officer, at noon notified city police to be on the lookout for four cars cruising city streets with election banners contrary to the Provincial Elections Act.

Conservative headquarters said the cars carried banners in support of their candidate, Alderman Wilson, but said they had not been officially authorized. They denied all responsibility.

Scores Missing In Japan Quake

400 Homes Destroyed in Northern Part of Main Island of Empire

AKITA, Japan (AP)—An earthquake, described as the strongest in 25 years, disrupted traffic, cut communication lines and caused other damage Monday throughout northern Honshu, the main Japanese island. The shock lasted 27 seconds. Its epicentre was believed to be in the Japan Sea.

The Home Ministry's official report listed five persons dead and scores missing, more than 400 homes demolished and about 200 others badly damaged. Parts of nearby Oka peninsula and of the southern coastline of Akita prefecture were understood to have sunk beneath the sea.

The meteorological bureau said the temblor almost shook the needle of the bureau's seismograph off its base.

Many of the 60,000 residents of the northern coastal city fled in terror to open spaces during the shocks.

Akita is on the west coast of the main island of Japan almost 300 miles north of Tokio.

NEW U.S. DEFENCES FOR PANAMA CANAL

Military Department In Caribbean Sea Announced By Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States War Department created a new first line of defence for the Panama Canal today by establishing a military department in the Caribbean Sea.

Secretary Woodring said headquarters of the new department would be located at the military reservation of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The War Department's action, taken under the direction of President Roosevelt, will bring under control of the new department beginning July 1 the islands of Puerto Rico, including all adjacent keys and islands, together with the Virgin Islands belonging to the United States.

In addition to defending the canal, the Puerto Rican department will direct defence of the Gulf of Mexico and the Gulf states. American military forces in the area would be charged with the duty of preventing any hostile foreign powers from establishing bases within striking distance of the American continent.

Mr. Woodring said the department would be under the command of Brig.-Gen. Edmund L. Daley.

The U.S. defence bill for the year beginning July 1 appeared likely today to reach the unprecedented peacetime total of $1,804,458,552.

Even that amount, which will be increased by $277,000,000 if additional locks are approved for the Panama Canal, is far less than Britain's defence fund of nearly $3,000,000,000.

Thirty-one Killed in Riot

BOMBAY (AP)—A communique published by Ganpur state disclosed today 31 persons were killed and 22 wounded in rioting April 25, when troops opened fire following attempts to arrest a Hindu leader.

British authorities started a judicial investigation into the shooting by soldiers commanded by a British officer.

Island Home Burns

HORSESHOE BAY, B.C. (CP)—The home of George Austin on Anvil Island, about 11 miles northwest of this Howe Sound summer resort, was destroyed by fire last night. Cause of the blaze is not known.

Horseshoe Bay residents who sighted the fire believed at first it was a vessel burning and anxiety was felt for a time for the speedboat Commodore, owned by Howard Rodgers.

The vessel had gone to Brittannia Beach, about 20 miles north of here on the shore of Howe Sound, to pick up a party of skiers. It later returned here safely to report the Austin home with all furnishings totally destroyed.

FRENCH AIR FORCE BOOST PLANNED

Daladier to Issue Speed-up Decrees After Conference

PARIS (AP)—An authoritative source said today a strengthening of the French air force was planned by Premier Edouard Daladier and Air Minister Guy La Chambre during week-end conferences.

Several decrees were expected to be handed down soon to speed up the French production in an effort to reduce what is regarded as Germany's superiority in the air.

Improved co-ordination of factories and increased supplies of raw materials for manufacturing planes were said to have been considered.

The latest French statistics estimated France's first-line military planes at 1,500, said to be about one-half the German air strength.

Since assuming decree powers, M. Daladier has increased hours of work from 40 to 60 per cent in some factories, but aviation sources said production still was lagging.

One evidence of the new production campaign was given by the May Day "work as usual" order today in national defence factories. Unions voluntarily abandoned their additional Labor Day celebrations.

SUICIDE NOTE IN CAR DURING TRIAL

Search Made in Kansas City for Edward L. Schneider

KANSAS CITY, Kas. (AP)—A suicide note was found today in the automobile of Edward L. Schneider, secretary-treasurer of seven corporations headed by Boss T. J. Pendergast. The car was parked on the Fairfax bridge over the Missouri River near here.

Schneider testified four days last week before a federal grand jury investigating business affairs of the political boss.

An income tax evasion indictment, to which Pendergast pleaded not guilty today in federal court in Kansas City, Mo., charges some of the money received by the boss from his business interests was paid through Schneider in an effort to evade income tax payments.

Russian Fliers At New York Fair After Plane Crash

Carried to City From Moncton, N.B., in Chartered Plane

Compass Froze

NEW YORK (CP)—Two Russian aviators, Brig.-Gen. Vladimiar Kokkinaki and his navigator-radio operator, Major Mikhail Gordienko, reached their objective today—the New York World's Fair—after having been forced to break a projected nonstop flight from Moscow on bleak Miscou Island, off New Brunswick's northeastern shore.

The Soviet airmen landed here last night from Moncton, N.B., in a 14-passenger plane chartered by Russian officials and piloted by Russell K. Thaw. Earlier yesterday Kokkinaki and Gordienko had been ferried to Moncton by Canadian Airways planes from the scene of the crack-up.

They said through an interpreter here that they had lost their course over Labrador while flying through a thick fog and had gone up to 27,000 feet to escape it. When they returned to their normal altitude they discovered their compass was frozen. This, they said, caused them to set down late Friday on the marshes of Miscou Island, damaging their big red twin-motored monoplane so badly it could not take off.

Kokkinaki said their average speed for the Moscow-to-Miscou flight was 180 ground miles an hour, or 220 air miles, despite strong headwings during much of the trip. About 70 per cent of the hop was flown by instruments.

The fliers, whisked from Floyd Bennett Field, spent last night at the Russian consulate. Awaiting them there were congratulations from Joseph Stalin.

It had at first been reported Kokkinaki broke one or more ribs in the crack-up, but one Russian official said the pilot suffered only bruises.

One Killed, One Missing In Flying Boat Wreck

LONDON (AP) — One crew member was killed and a wireless officer was reported missing today when the Imperial Airways flying boat Challenger was wrecked when approaching Mozambique anchorage, the air company was informed by cablegram.

Three passengers and four other crew members were injured as the plane came to its end in four feet of water at Mozambique, southeast Africa. The Challenger was proceeding on a trip from Dar-es-Salaam, South Africa.

1,000 Fighting Fires in Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — More than 1,000 men from farms, mill crews and towns battled forest and bush fires in various parts of Alberta today.

Heavy losses in valuable crown timber were reported by J. A. Hutchison, assistant Director of Forestry for Alberta. Dry conditions throughout the province led to a general warning extreme caution was required.

Denied Measures Being Railroaded In Commons

Lapointe Sharply Replies to Woodsworth In Prorogation Talk

King to Sign Bills

OTTAWA (CP)—A suggestion from J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, that business was being "railroaded" through the House of Commons provoked a sharp rejoinder from Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, this afternoon just before it was indicated an early closing of the session is under active consideration.

Asked regarding the possibility of Prorogation May 19, Mr. Lapointe said the party whips would consult all parties on their views. If it appeared convenient, either morning sittings or an extension of the afternoon and evening sittings would be proposed.

If early prorogation appeared impossible the government would move the adjournment of the House May 12 until June 19 except for the one day, May 19, when the King would give assent to bills in the Senate.

"Nobody on this side, or on any side so far as I know, wants to railroad anything," said the minister in reply to Mr. Woodsworth. "We are quite prepared to stay here as long as my honorable friend, perhaps longer."

PRIVATE BILLS

The exchange occurred as Oscar Boulanger, Liberal, Bellechasse, Que., acting for the chairman of the private bills committee, moved to suspend the rule that notice of a private bill must be posted eight days before it could be considered by a committee.

Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader, suggested the motion stand, but that two bills regarding charters for small loan companies receive no special consideration.

Mr. Lapointe endorsed the suggestion and Mr. Boulanger agreed while stating the motion applied only to private bills which might otherwise fail to obtain consideration.

A. H. Mitchell, Social Credit, Medicine Hat, and whip of his party, asked whether the government still considered it impossible to prorogue Parliament when the King visits Ottawa, and if so when morning sittings of the House would start.

Mr. Lapointe said it would be possible to enact the legislation now before Parliament in time to permit of early prorogation, but a protracted debate on the budget would be an insuperable obstacle.

In the budget debate, Rev. T. C. Douglas, C.C.F., Weyburn, Sask., complained western members had as yet had no chance of discussing Hon. J. G. Gardiner's farm legislation.

"The greatest homage we can pay to His Majesty," he said, "is to look after the King's business, and the King's business is the welfare of all His Majesty's subjects."

Bloc Asks Early Russian Pledge

Counter-plan for Declaration of Immediate Aid to Any Eastern Europeans Attacked

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — The British and French governments have made counter-proposals to Russia's plan for a triple alliance to stop aggression in Europe, it was reported on high authority tonight.

Informed sources declared Russia had been asked to make an immediate declaration that her military resources would be placed at the disposal of any eastern European state which was attacked.

This declaration would be interim protection to countries fearing aggression and would be similar to pledges by Great Britain and France to aid in the defence of Poland, Roumania and Greece.

TALKS CONTINUED

Earlier today Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons that conversations with Russia concerning enlistment of Soviet participation in the anti-aggression bloc were being carried on "with all possible dispatch."

The Prime Minister spoke shortly before bills calling for conscription of 20-year-old men for military training and enabling the government to call up reserve forces when necessary were introduced by Mr. Chamberlain and War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha.

The interim plan proposed by the British and French governments to Russia would continue in effect until negotiations on a long-term policy were carried out. The long-term policy would be based on some system of collective security, perhaps embodying Russia's idea of a military alliance.

Meanwhile it also was reported Turkey is on the point of accepting an Anglo-French guarantee in return for a pledge to keep the Dardanelles open to their navies in wartime. Mr. Chamberlain may be in a position to announce this development within a day or two.

WOULD AVOID DELAY

It is understood there are two reasons behind the counter-proposals. First, it was believed the Soviet declaration should be of an "if and when" basis, leaving it to the countries like Poland and Roumania to request military assistance. Second, there is need for an immediate declaration because of disturbed European relations, particularly between Germany and Poland.

Although Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag speech lessened Polish antagonism to Russian troops fighting on her territory, it was understood the Polish government still opposes any alliance with the Soviet. If Russia accepts the present plan her military support would be limited to Polish demands on it, perhaps only supplying munitions or planes.

Hitler Denies He Wants War

But Tells Youth Rallies Reich One of Most Heavily Armed Nations

BERLIN (AP) — Chancellor Hitler today proclaimed Germany one of the "most heavily-armed nations of the world" and Nazi diplomats pressed efforts to isolate Poland to make her ripe for yielding to German demands.

The Fuehrer and his lieutenants seized on May Day celebrations to unify the Nazi Reich and strengthen the offensive against "international enemies" which Hitler began with his reply last Friday to President Roosevelt's peace proposals.

In two speeches—one to 135,000 boys and girls of the Hitler youth organization and another to "brawn and brain workers" in a Berlin mass meeting—he hit out at charges Germany desires war.

He also took occasion to strike at American action against German goods, saying:

"The United States has organized a boycott against German goods. It would have been better to import German goods than German emigrants."

(Campaigns against the purchase of German goods in the United States are unofficial. The United States government has imposed a 25 per cent countervailing duty against most German goods to compensate for subsidy of exports by Germany.)

German diplomacy is trying to drive a wedge between Poland and Hungary in the hope of isolating Poland, formerly a partner with Germany in a 10-year non-aggression pact which Hitler denounced Friday, it was said.

Hitler told the youth organizations they must be prepared to "conquer to win our rights, and if necessary, to defend them."

THEY LOVE PEACE

Speaking to the Reich's "brawn and brain" workers, the Chancellor struck at charges Germany desires war, and asserted:

"We love peace. . . . I have enough grounds to want peace to complete enterprises that need 10 to 20 years."

"International agitators," the Fuehrer told the workers, "are working against Germany with all their means and I am arming Germany with all my means."

Hitler told 135,000 members of the Hitler youth organizations to place no faith in "slogans poisoning peoples and seeking to destroy us."

"Others are not thinking of giving our people their vital rights. If some day they try to attack our liberty, the youth who stand before me would become millions of men. The world will fail, as it has always failed, thanks to German unity."

Victoria Soldier Wins Play Award

Corporal N. W. Watts, P.P.C.L.I. Gets CBC $250 First Prize

A play written on an army typewriter in the orderly-room of B Company of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at Work Point Barracks has won Corporal Noel Moritz Watts the $250 first prize in a nation-wide contest for radio plays conducted by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

"Well, for Pete's sake—" was about all that Corporal Watts could say at first when the Times broke the news to him this morning.

Later he amplified: "I had two plays in. I thought if I got anywhere at all it would be with the other one."

The winning play is an imaginative half-hour drama entitled "Hang the Poets at Dawn," which its author says is the story of an experiment by a young and inexperienced goddess who decided the present system of sending mankind into the world as babies and letting them struggle slowly and painfully through life, so that by the time they had grown up all the freshness had been worn off them, was wrong, and decided to do something about it.

The other play, on which his hopes were really pinned, was a comedy.

Corporal Watts, who is an orderly-room clerk, has been in the army on and off for nine and a half years. He is 29 and unmarried.

He was born in Brandon, Manitoba, and lived for many years in Winnipeg, where he first went into uniform.

BACK IN THE ARMY

He has written short stories for a long time. Four years ago, on the strength of some money he had made from his writing, he bought himself out of the army and came to Victoria to settle down and make his living with the pen instead of with the sword.

"After starving for about a year I went back into the army," he explains. "A steady pay cheque is about the best inspiration a writer can have. I intend to keep on with writing and the army, both."

Two years ago Corporal Watts got interested in the Little Theatre movement. He joined the Victoria Little Theatre Association and worked backstage.

"I sort of got shipped off into sound effects—making weird noises," he said with resignation in his voice. He made weird noises during the association's successful productions of "The Quinneys" and "The Skin Game."

However this diversion of his talent did not deter him. A year ago he wrote three short plays and sent them to the CBC at Winnipeg. They were accepted, but have not yet been produced.

Results of the play contest were announced in Ottawa yesterday.

Marjorie Jordan, Brantford, Ont., took $150 second prize for "The Doctor's Wife," a story of character transition during a forest fire. "White Acacias," by E. G. Archibald, Timmins, Ont., gained $100 for third place with its story of an immigrant's conversion to Canadianism.

Fourth prize of $50 went to Mary Turner and Charles Carruthers, London, Ont., for a stirring drama "Some Must Watch," concerning an incident in Upper Canada after the rebellion of 1837.

CBC officials expressed satisfaction with results of the contests, conducted to foster radio writing in the Dominion. Almost 200 plays on varied subjects were received from Canadian authors.

The independent judges were Ronald Mitchell of the University of Alberta, Dorothy White, director of the Ottawa Drama League, and E. G. Sterndale-Bennett, Toronto director.

Reported Poland Considers Plan To Occupy Danzig

Offensive to Counter Hitler's Moves Supported By Public

Beck Soon to Speak

WARSAW (CP - Havas) — Another German - Polish clash was reported here today as the press expressed the conviction Foreign Minister Joseph Beck would not limit himself to a mere rejection of German demands on Poland when he addresses parliament this week.

A number of Poles were reported to have been beaten and injured by Nazis in a clash which occurred in Oppeln, German Silesia, according to newspaper dispatches.

The violence flared up when the director of a Polish theatrical troupe was clubbed by Nazis. A group of Poles who had planned to attend the performance and attempted to aid Sobianski also were attacked, dispatches said.

At the same time it was understood that Beck would go beyond a mere rejection of the German claims on Poland regarding Danzig and an extra-territorial passage through the Polish Corridor.

Such an attitude would be in line with public sentiment in Poland, which feels that in countering a German "offensive" it is more suitable to take an offensive rather than a defensive attitude, observers said.

"The Danzig problem would not exist if in 1920 General Haller and his troops had occupied Danzig, which would not have been a difficult matter," the Kurjer Warszawski commented.

The newspaper expressed the view that the occupation of Danzig by Poland was not outside the realm of possibilities.

LEAGUE ACTION

The official Gazetta Polska, citing what it termed violation of international agreements by Germany, said "the policy of Berlin creates a situation which will cause the Polish government to further its demands concerning establishment of new guarantees for Polish rights and Polish territory in Danzig."

The Gazetta Polska's article was interpreted as meaning Poland might ask the League of Nations—nominally the highest authority in Danzig—to transfer certain of its rights to Poland. The League could invest Poland with police powers in the Free City, which already lies within the Polish customs administration.

Reliable reports said Chancellor Hitler had followed up his demands of last Friday regarding the Free City and the Polish Corridor with more details of what he wants, including setting the width of the proposed trans-Corridor Germany highway at no less than 25 kilometres (15.5 miles). The additional details were said to have been conveyed privately to Poland.

Dynamite Found At Hamilton Bay

Police Attempt to Trace Man Who Prowled On Wharves

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — A bag of dynamite and 37 percussion caps were found on the shore of Hamilton Bay last night and police today were investigating to determine whether there was any link between the find and activities of a man seen prowling around docks Saturday night.

The mysterious stranger, who told several persons he was an "undercover man" in sabotage investigation, was ordered off Hamilton Harbor Commission property by George Awrey, night supervisor, who found him trying a door of the commission warehouse. The dynamite was found a few hundred feet from the warehouse.

Authorities were told a man visited the docks of the Canada Steamship Lines and the Weaver Coal Company and inquired regarding arrival of certain freighters. At one office, he asked to be allowed to telephone the Hamilton office of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. He hung up quickly, saying the line was busy.

The dynamite was wet and apparently had been washed ashore from the bay. The percussion caps were found strewn along the shore. Police took the dynamite to the central police station and later removed it to the city yards.

It was learned a considerable quantity of dynamite fuse was taken from the water's edge, near where the dynamite was found, three nights ago.

Police today questioned a 15-year-old boy held in jail in connection with the find. The juvenile was arrested for stealing percussion caps from a stone quarry in nearby Dundas and was remanded to jail when he refused to tell police what he had done with the caps.

There have frequent thefts of dynamite in Ontario recently, leading to fears sabotage against public buildings and utilities was being planned.

CONFERENCE PROPOSED

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Gordon Conant said today he was considering calling a conference of police authorities and government officials to determine what steps may be necessary to suppress subversive activities in Ontario.

TALKS WITH RUSSIA PROVE LENGTHY

Chamberlain Not Yet Prepared to Make Statement to Commons

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today was asked in the Commons by Labor Leader Attlee for an explanation of the "long delay" in the negotiations with Russia involving the Soviet's enlistment in an anti-aggression bloc.

Mr. Chamberlain, who had just attended a special cabinet meeting at which the progress of the conversations was discussed, said he realized the desirability of making a statement at the earliest date, but was not prepared to do so at once. "Proposals have been received from Russia and the conversations are proceeding with all possible dispatch," he said.

"It is not a very simple matter and one in which other governments have to be considered beside our own."

While bills calling for military conscription of men aged 20 years for six months of training and enabling the government to call up reserve forces were introduced into the House, the texts were not published immediately, but it was reported the conscription measure included Northern Ireland.

Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Eire was understood last week to have expressed to the British government his opposition to extension of conscription to his northern neighbor.

The Prime Minister gave a definite "no" to Robert Boothby, Conservative, who asked if the government would establish a compulsory national register to replace the voluntary registry now in effect.

Mr. Chamberlain told the House that Sir Percy Loraine's credentials as ambassador in Rome did not imply de jure recognition of the Italian conquest of Albania.

Earlier Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax had placed Poland's reaction to Chancellor Hitler's Friday speech before the cabinet.

Poland's reaction to Hitler's speech, in which he renounced the German-Polish nonaggression and disclosed the terms of his "one and only offer" concerning the Free City of Danzig and the Polish Corridor, was transmitted to London by Sir Howard Kennard, British ambassador at Warsaw, after a talk with the Polish Foreign Minister, Colonel Joseph Beck.

It was understood it emphasized the following points:

1. Hitler's account of German-Polish negotiations over Danzig was "inaccurate."

2. Germany definitely did not offer Poland a 25-year pact of nonaggression.

3. Germany did not mention a joint German-Polish-Hungarian guarantee of Slovakia.

4. Poland did not finally "reject" Germany's Danzig proposals, but merely put up counter-proposals.

Col. Beck was reported to have told Sir Howard Poland was convinced Germany's proposals for an extra-territorial road and a railroad across the Corridor between Germany proper and East Prussia were made not for economic but for military reasons.

MILITARY PARADE MOSCOW'S BIGGEST

Soviet Preparedness Stressed in Display Marking May Day

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

MOSCOW—The biggest military display ever seen in Moscow's Red Square stressed the Soviet's armed preparedness today as Russia celebrated the 50th anniversary of the international May Day.

Six hundred warplanes — including a number of new types such as the four-engined "flying battleship" — roared over the Kremlin as tens of thousands of soldiers of the Red Army marched through the square.

Artillery and tanks thundered across the square in quantities hitherto unequalled in Soviet land. Several fast tanks raced at 40 miles an hour.

Joseph Stalin, according to Soviet officials, reviewed the parade of armed might from the top of Lenin's tomb. From the press and diplomatic sections of the grandstands, however, he could not be seen.

TANGLED AFFAIRS

Klementi Voroshiloff, defence commissar, opened the celebration with a speech emphasizing Soviet preparedness for war. The present international situation, he said, "is like a tangled web of bloody intrigue and cowardice of rulers."

He added: "The world's toilers easily realize the Soviet Union is the only country whose government is fighting for peace throughout the world. . . .

"Whoever dares to step on the thresholds of our home will be destroyed.

"No small affairs can frighten us, but if a big war comes we are ready—we not only know how to fight, we love to fight. We will not lay down our arms until complete victory is ours."

After the military parade—which included detachments of armed workers and a detachment of "old guerilla fighters of revolutionary days" — approximately 1,000,000 civilians, men, women and children, marched past the polished red tomb of Lenin.

Regiments of children added to the preparedness note by holding aloft model airplanes, tanks and battleships.

One feature of the parade was the number of women participants. They were numerous among the detachments of young parachute jumpers and also in the company of old guerilla fighters.

TELFORD BACK FROM LONG TRIP

Vancouver Mayor Says Financial Policy Must Be Changed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor J. Lyle Telford returned to his city hall desk today after a month's business tour of the east and said he was convinced the destiny of the Canadian people would not be a happy one during the next few years unless senior governments should change their financial policy toward municipalities.

Speaking of his impressions at the conference of Canadian mayors he attended at Ottawa, the Vancouver mayor said provincial and federal governments "take from the municipalities many of their rightful sources of income and at the same time burden them with greater responsibilities."

Dr. Telford said he had learned that while 1937 tax collections were uniformly higher in Canada's 4,300 municipalities, the burden of relief on municipal budgets offset improvements which might otherwise have materialized.

Such improvements, he said, would be impossible until the provincial and federal governments should relieve the municipalities of direct unemployment relief costs.

The mayor said he was a supporter of the "New Democracy" of Hon. W. D. Herridge. The new movement was not political, he said, but an effort to "co-ordinate and consolidate the more progressive thinkers of Canada against the uniting forces of reaction that are driving the country to national economic suicide."

COURT ASKED TO BAR PADLOCK LAW

Appeal Heard in Quebec Against Lessard Sentence

QUEBEC (CP) — Communist candidates in federal elections could not campaign in Quebec because of the province's padlock law against Communism, R. L. Calder, K.C., argued today before the Quebec Court of Appeals. He contended the padlock law conflicted with the Dominion Election Act and was unconstitutional.

Mr. Calder, representing the Canadian Civil Liberties Union, appeared on behalf of F. X. Lessard and Joseph Drouin, appealing their conviction and sentence last fall on a joint charge of conspiring to obstruct police.

Lessard received a two-year penitentiary term and Drouin, a year's prison sentence, as a result of Lessard's alleged entry into his downtown home last July after its padlocking under the provincial anti-Communist law.

Moscow's four-year-old underground railway is carrying a million passengers a day, and is to add two new lines, according to report.

MILK MARKETING SCHEME OPPOSED

Fraser Farmers Told Clearing House Not What They Voted for

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—Basil Gardom, president of the Independent Milk Producers' Association, told a meeting of nearly 1,000 dairymen here Saturday night that the scheme for marketing milk through the Milk Producers' Clearing House Co-operative Association was "substantially not the plan voted for by 85 per cent of the producers last fall."

A Supreme Court injunction granted Saturday by Chief Justice Aulay Morrison in Vancouver has halted operation of the Co-operative Association until Wednesday at least. The injunction, granted on application of a number of independent producers and distributors, prevents members of the British Columbia Lower Mainland Dairy Products Board from permitting the association to act as its agent and from taking steps to compel plaintiffs to comply with a series of orders issued by the board.

Counsel for the independent producers and distributors said in Vancouver Saturday that application would be made Wednesday for continuance of the injunction until trial of an action claiming election of W. J. Park, E. G. Sherwood and J. W. Carmichael as directors of the association was null and void.

Tobacco Co.'s Trial

EDMONTON (CP) — Forty-four tobacco-manufacturing companies, jobbers and distributors stood remanded for trial here today as a result of a decision Saturday by Magistrate A. I. Millar in special police court following a six-week hearing on charges of operating as a combine. The trial in the Supreme Court of Alberta is expected to take place in the autumn.

Two of the seven charges originally laid against the various companies and independent jobbers were withdrawn on application of A. L. Smith, K.C., Calgary, crown counsel. One was a charge of conspiring against the peace and the other was of conspiring to affect the public market price by deceit and fraudulent means.

GOEBBELS SAYS NO HYSTERIA IN REICH

Germans Not Affected By 'Lying Press' of Other Nations, He Claims

BERLIN (AP)—At the youth rallies addressed by Hitler today brief speeches were made by Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels and Youth Leader Baldur von Schirach. Dr. Goebbels said youth was the "guarantor of the new Europe" and asked, "What can an old democracy do, facing Nazi youth?"

From as early as 4 and until 8.30 a.m., the hour of Hitler's first address, columns of school children converged on the Olympic Stadium, accompanied by field kitchens and brass bands.

Hitler hastened from the stadium to the German opera house, where Goebbels presided over the Reich's kultur chamber in an awarding of prizes for films and books.

"At a time of international tension Germany celebrates her May Day," the propaganda minister said. "This tension does not in the least affect Germany, although our power and our greatness are involved. The German people are immune to all international hysteria, immune to the lying press of London, Paris and New York.

"We rest secure and firm in our own might."

TEXTILE LEADER CRITICIZES M.P.

G. B. Gordon Issues Statement at Montreal In Reply to M. Raymod

MONTREAL (CP)—G. Blair Gordon, president of the Dominion Textile Company Limited, in a statement today criticized Maxime Raymond, K.C., Liberal member of Parliament for Beauharnois-Laprairie, Que., for an address on the textile industry given in the House of Commons Friday.

Mr. Raymond's address, delivered in connection with his bill amending the Companies Act to permit obtaining information about the operations of companies protected by the tariff, referred at one point to Mr. Gordon as a "young dictator" and was generally condemnatory of certain textile companies.

"Only a few days previously in the same house, Hon. Mr. Dunning, during the course of his budget speech, had referred to the courage and enterprise of the men who had helped to build up industry in this country and his hopes that others would follow in their footsteps." It termed Mr. Raymond's utterances "as destructive and despicable as Mr. Dunning's remarks were constructive and encouraging."

Hints of Hitler Move in August

LONDON (CP-Havas) — Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag speech of last Friday has led some observers here to deduce that Germany "may wait until August or September before taking decisive action against Poland," the diplomatic correspondent of the Sunday Times of London, Independent, wrote.

Responsible opinion in London, he added, is "very insistent that Britain, if she were to fight, would not be fighting for Danzig but for the balance of power in Europe, since if Germany succeeded in neutralizing the east, she would then be strong enough to dictate her own terms in the west."

600,000 at New York Fair

Opening Crowd Short Of 1,000,000 Expected; Roosevelt Speaks

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—The New York World's Fair, bidding all comers to try its latchstring to the future, today played before its first week-day crowd after an official Sunday opening when in eight hours, it was estimated, 600,000 attended. That figure was far short of the 1,000,000 who had been expected on the inaugural day to peer into the symbolized "World of Tomorrow."

Grover A. Whalen, president of the fair, said the announced figure was tentative because five of the 11 gates were not geared for automatic counting and that the final figure would have to be reached by counting admission tickets.

Unsettled weather, with a chill rain and wind following the sunny conditions that prevailed during President Roosevelt's dedicatory speech in mid-afternoon Sunday, was regarded as a major factor in reducing the anticipated attendance at the opening of the $160,000,000 spectacle. Another factor was the New Yorkers' frankly expressed desire to remain at home in the face of such crowding as was expected.

ROOSEVELT SPEAKS

Opening the fair, President Roosevelt said the United States stood united in a desire to encourage peace and expressed for all the Americas hope the years to come would break down many barriers of intercourse between nations in Europe.

He avoided any reference to Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag address, but rededicated the United States to the cause of international good will and declared her wagon was "hitched to a star."

"But it is a star of good will, a star of progress for mankind, a star of greater happiness and less hardship, a star of international good will, and, above all, a star of peace," he said.

"May the months to come carry us forward in the rays of that hope."

The President spoke in the outdoor "Court of Peace." His words were broadcast throughout the world.

Sectionalism and regional jealousies had been replaced in the United States by "national solidarity of economic and social thought" due to the form of government and its "spirit of wise tolerance," he said.

"We in the United States and, indeed, in all the Americas," he declared, "remember that our population stems from many races and kindreds and tongues.

The United States stood today as "a completely homogeneous nation . . . united in its desire to encouage peace and good will among all nations of the world," President Roosevelt said.

NOT YET OPENED

The Canadian pavilion and the score of other buildings in the international section were not open to the public yesterday. The various pavilions in the foreign section will open individually in the next few weeks as they are completed. The white stucco Canadian structue is almost finished but the exhibits are not yet in place, some of the material having been delayed by customs regulations.

The first-day visitors jammed buses, tractor trains and hand and motorized pushcars. Crowding at restaurants was like a cafeteria at the noon rush.

Dignitaries from nations all over the earth, from many state and federal departments and a special train delegation numbering 600 congressmen, cabinet officers, Supreme Court Justices and others from Washington heard the President's address.

Thirty-five thousand persons stood in the shadow of the Trylon and Perisphere to hear the President, whose address was carried around the world on what radio officials said was the largest hook-up in history. The extreme interest was explained by the National Broadcasting Company as arising from the fact other nations had a share in the fair exhibits.

The President's words were carried by cable for rebroadcast as far away as Australia, one of the 60 foreign exhibitors.

Sir Louie Beale, British commissioner-general to the fair, said:

"I must express the pride, and satisfaction of the nations represented at being associated with the people of the United States in this event of world-wide significance."

Coney Island Crowded

NEW YORK (AP) — World's fairs may come and go, but Coney Island goes on forever. While the "World of Tomorrow," drew 600,000 opening day customers Sunday, only a few miles away, 250,000 persons thronged Coney Island, home of the hot dog and the boardwalk.

Big Clean-up In Kansas City

Mayor Says Period Of Padded Payrolls And Deficits Ended

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas City, scene of a vice cleanup and political purge the past few weeks, began a new fiscal year today with the promise "no padded payrolls; no deficit."

The promise was made by "the little mayor," Bryce Smith, who April 14 seized control of the city government and forced the resignation of the veteran city manager, Henry McElroy.

Mayor Smith begins the new year with a deficit estimated at $1,850,000, including $650,000 in back salaries to city employees. He said an investigation showed "shocking" conditions in some departments and ordered 750 employees stricken from the payroll, effective today. More than 100 employees were ousted from the general hospital, which has more than 400 patients.

He ordered an audit of the city's books and replaced McElroy's self-styled "country bookkeeping" with a system of checks and counter-checks. McElroy, who until this year never had admitted a deficit, throughout his 13 years as city manager met all queries for financial records with the same reply: "No one but me could understand my country bookkeeping."

LISTED FOR TRIAL

The 1938-39 year-end saw these developments:

Indictment of Democratic Boss Thomas Pendergast on charges of evading federal income taxes on $443,550 in 1935 and 1936.

Indictment of his political henchman, R. E. O'Malley on charges of evading federal income taxes on $62,500 in 1935 and 1936 while state superintendent of insurance.

Resignation of McElroy.

Resignation under fire of Police Director Otto Higgins.

Indictment of more than a score of men on narcotics charges, including Angelo Donnici, said by District Attorney Maurice Milligan to be the head of a syndicate doing a $12,000,000 yearly business in the western half of the United States.

Closing of most gambling houses and the indictment of Charles Carollo, labelled "the big man of gambling" here.

Disclosure that Pendergast's family owned a large block of stock in a company which collected $300,000 yearly from the city for garbage disposal.

A move to eliminate criminals from the police force.

Much Business Still Before M.P.'s

Slight Possibility Work Will Be Completed Before King Arrives

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament Hill today conceded a slight chance the sessional work may be completed in time for the King to prorogue Parliament May 19.

Both Houses face an unusually large amount of unfinished business in the short time remaining, but there are signs of a willingness to get through the work if at all possible to do so.

One of the obstacles to a Royal prorogation has been insistence of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and the Social Credit group on ample opportunity to present their criticism of government policy, and in the case of the Social Credit group, to expound their monetary theories.

Hint of a compromise attitude by Social Credit members was shown last week when J. C. Landeryou, Calgary East, suggested that if the banking and commerce committee provided opportunity for his colleagues and himself to talk monetary policy and finance in the committee room it might not be necessary to discuss them in the House.

Prime Minister King has assured the House he has no intention of exerting pressure on members to conclude in time for the King to prorogue Parliament, and there have been indications he will not press for longer daily sittings unless it is the general desire.

There have been suggestions the House sit in the mornings as well as in the afternoons and evenings, and another quarter favors adding two hours to the daily sittings by beginning an hour earlier at 2 o'clock and cutting the dinner adjournment to one hour.

House committees have been speeding up their work by more frequent sittings, but the public accounts committee investigating the contract with the John C. Inglis Company of Toronto for manufacture of Bren machine guns and the banking and commerce committe still are far from finished.

In any event, Parliament will adjourn May 12 so the Prime Minister and other members of the government may go to Quebec to greet Their Majesties May 15. The Houses will sit again May 19 when the King visits Parliament. If the sessional work is completed His assent to several bills and Parliament. If not, he will give royal assent to several bill and Parliament probably will adjourn until June 19, when it will proceed with its sessional duties.

TWO WOUNDED BY BULLETS IN TORONTO

Gunman Shoots Taxi Driver; Police Shoot Man in Stolen Auto

TORONTO (CP) — A minor crime wave in central and western Ontario during the week-end left two men in a hospital with bullet wounds and police with three unsolved hold-ups on their list today.

Most concentrated police action in Toronto since the murder of James Windsor in January followed the shooting Saturday night of Lawrence Owen, 25, taxi driver, who got a bullet in the abdomen when he defied a young gunman's orders to hand over his money. His condition today was critical.

The shooting in downtown Toronto resulted soon afterwards in the capture of an alleged automobile thief. Police shot at a stolen car and hit one of three men in the car in the thigh. He gave his name as Kenneth Smyth, 24. His companion escaped.

The man who shot Owen was believed to be the same man who earlier broke into a home in suburban Swansea and was chased out by Hilda Fox.

Like Miss Fox, Owen thought the gunman's weapon was a toy. Owen got out of the cab and despite two warnings that he would be shot if he kept advancing, continued to walk slowly toward the gunman. The gunman fired point-blank.

Canadian Nickel

GIVES GREATER STRENGTH WITH LIGHTER WEIGHT

THE WORKING PARTS of that powerful, light-weight outboard motor of today must stand terrific stresses. Nickel alloys supply the needed strength with minimum weight.

The mighty marine engine too, operates continuously with fewer overhauls because parts subject to severe stresses are made of Nickel Steel or Nickel Iron.

Tons of Canadian Nickel go into the condenser tubes, the turbine parts, the anchor chains and the kitchens of the modern ocean liner. Tons too go into the machinery in mines, machine shops, steel mills and all types of manufacturing plants.

Industry the world over operates with fewer breakdowns because of the increased strength, toughness, and resistance to wear and corrosion which Nickel imparts to other metals. So the demand for Canadian Nickel continues to grow.

Mining, smelting and refining the Nickel from Canadian ore provide wages for thousands of Canadians. Cutting the timber, handling the freight, producing the equipment and supplies for the Nickel mines and plants provide employment for other thousands of Canadians. The increased production of Canadian Nickel means more jobs, more money in circulation throughout the land.

Herr Hitler Slipping?

SOME OF THE SENTIMENTS TO WHICH Reichsfuehrer Hitler gave expression before an assemblage of the German Youth organizations in Berlin today must have left hundreds of thousands of intelligent citizens within the Greater Reich as cold as an icicle. If the speech were intended to clarify or emphasize the long-winded peroration of last Friday—which but mildly accentuated the "war on the nerves"—it fell far short of its objective. It did little more than furnish new proof that a dictator fails to shine when he employs meaningless generalities and erects hypothetical conditions.

The great audience heard the Nazi chief strike the familiar note: "We love peace." It heard him say he had "enough grounds to want peace to complete enterprises that need 10 to 20 years." Of course the great majority of the German people love peace and want peace. Parents of the assembled youth whom Herr Hitler was addressing could explain the need for lasting peace and how it might be obtained; but those adult Germans who fought and lived through the war years may no longer speak their own minds within the privacy of their own homes because sons and daughters belong to the Nazi Youth organizations whose membership is so bound in its allegiance to the Fuehrer that the sanctity of the parental tie has become a secondary consideration.

It was not surprising, of course, that the Reichsfuehrer qualified his hackneyed reference to peace with a noisier reiteration of the boast that Germany "is one of the most heavily-armed nations of the world today," with the typical Nazi warning that "international agitators are working against Germany with all their means," and with the assurance that "I am arming Germany with all my means." Then, presumably by way of exhortation to his hearers to be on constant guard, he rounded off his speech with this:

"If the hour should come that the world believes it can reach at Germany's freedom, then a million-fold cry will rise, so tremendous that the world will know unmistakably that the time of Germany's weakness is definitely past. However, man shall not destroy what the Almighty created . . . and this is the prayer guiding our future . . . hard men and upright women who know that fortune does not distribute her gifts lavishly, but that everything must be fought for."

Hitlerian speeches and Nazi parades of might may continue to restrain the German people for some time; but unless there is something more to show than the collective animosity of the rest of the world—which really wants to be friendly with the German people—it would seem that internal unrest will, sooner or later, find a way of expressing itself. The Reichsfuehrer's latest contribution to the international exchange of words, however, does not strengthen his case.

Business Versus Crises

CANADA CAN ECHO THE SENTIMENTS expressed by the consensus of opinion emanating from United States business: Given a breathing-space long enough between successive European crises the wheels of domestic and external trade might be able to move again with alacrity. According to one New York authority the first quarter of the present year reveals more money being made from a substantially larger turnover than in the corresponding period of 1938. We read:

Retail sales of new cars and trucks in the first 10 days of April are 46 per cent ahead of the same period of 1938 . . . the first quarter is 58 per cent ahead. . . . A big tractor company reports $100,000 more profit for the first quarter than in 1938. . . . A nation-wide building supply house made $125,000 in the first quarter against a loss of $250,000 in 1938 . . . the first four railroads to report indicate a big improvement in traffic in March as compared to January and February . . . the auto tire companies unanimously report more sales than last year, and one big one which took a whacking loss in 1938 is out of the red for the first quarter of 1939 . . . the biggest electrical equipment firm reports orders 5 per cent over 1938, and made correspondingly more money. . . . Air line travel is 25 per cent above that of 1938's first quarter.

In fact, the aggregate profits of the first 66 industrial companies reporting for the first quarter of 1939 show combined net income of $41,799,456 as compared with $29,944,931 in 1938, an advance of almost 40 per cent. The motor industry led the way up out of the depression of 1933; today it leads again, and waits only for followers. American Telephone, for instance, has said it will spend $320,000,000 on new plant. The Class 1 railroads have this year put in service almost 1,000 more new freight cars than last year.

The encouraging findings in the United States, of course, are of direct interest and significance to us in Canada. If only some way could be found to lead Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini and their ilk into the middle of an illimitable desert and leave them there to find a way to forget they ever lived, the world might miss a few crises. Meanwhile the Nazi chief's latest outburst has added to the uncertainty of these times.

Spain and Latin America

ADDED TO THE SCREAMINGS FROM Berlin and Rome are the pitiful cries from the thousands of Spaniards who now belong to the world's army of refugees. Latin America is already beginning to understand something about the transplantation to the New World of some of the antagonisms of the civil war which has reduced much of the Iberian Peninsula to a shambles—thanks partly to the passive co-operation of the nonintervention states with the noninterventionist countries which actively intervened.

We are told that Cuba very shortly will receive General Jose Maija, and also that refugees in considerable numbers, fleeing from Insurgent-Fascist General Franco's vengeance, are flocking into Mexico. There is reason to believe that some of them brought quantities of gold from the treasury of the Spanish republican government. Other refugees are pouring into all the Spanish-speaking countries below the Rio Grande.

Meanwhile, however, the Franco partizans are also busy, and their agents, active Falangists in many cases, are beginning an active propaganda for "reunion of the old Spanish colonies with Mother Spain." In some cases these agents have already taken an active part in local political affairs in Mexico, Puerto Rico, and the Philippines. Mexico recently expelled three of them. How much the bitterness of the Spanish war will have been diluted by the sea-voyage, how sharp these cleavages will become in Latin-America, remains to be seen. But there is an obvious potential major problem in the realm of possibility.

Real Estate Business

IF A FEW HOME TRUTHS DO ALL THE good we have for long been told they do, Colonel Brooke Stephenson's remarks to the Real Estate Board the other day may be causing a little heart-searching, especially among those who are engaged in the business of selling property. As a member of the organization to whom he addressed his remarks, admitting that he himself was as guilty of the practices of which he complained as any of his colleagues, the speaker declared that the body in question had, for the last five or 10 years, consistently and successfully "knocked" its own city. Here are some of Colonel Stephenson's reported statements:

"It's high time some of us realized our shortcomings and got down to business."

"It's time we no longer let war stop business.

"It makes me mad to see a man like Hitler having an effect like this on business here.

"It has been happening for the last two years now, because we are like a bunch of sheep and do just what the fellow next to us does.

"I am in accord with Canada preparing for war, but it is time we also thought of preparing for peace."

As a warning to the board, Colonel Stephenson visualized an invasion of Victoria—in which Reichsfuehrer Hitler would be very remotely in the background—by "a real bunch of wide-awake real estate men" from somewhere else in Canada or from the United States—"and we are just going to be left holding the small end of the stick." This final note of hope, however, is worth considering:

"We have here the most marvelous spot on the continent, if not in the world. We have built up the idea that taxes are high here. They are not. Compare them with those in Vancouver, Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Montreal, Toronto, and see. It is worth 50 times what we pay in taxes to be able to live in Victoria."

How the members of the Real Estate Board operate in their own and in their clients' interests is, of course, their own business. Nor is it within our province to speculate on the effect which Colonel Stephenson's plain speaking may have had on his fellow realtors. But if the board can [illegible] the idea that—compared with other communities where the balance of the ordinary amenities is against them—taxes in Victoria are far from prohibitive, there need be no danger of the invasion of which the speaker appeared to be apprehensive. Real property values then ought to increase automatically to the general benefit of all concerned.

Sports fans can easily tell when it's time to put on the screens. Three weeks before the hockey playoffs start.

A Portland, Ore. girl insisted on marrying a man while he still had scarlet fever. It was a rash ceremony and the bridegroom's face was red.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sawyer of Poplar Bluff, Mo., won tickets to see the movie, "Huckleberry Finn." Of course, the judges will protest the name had nothing to do with it.

DEPARTMENT OF COMPLETE EMBARRASSMENT

From New York Post

We report, with unrestrained chuckles, on the newest development in the careers of the famous Woods twins of Amsterdam Avenue.

As you remember, these are the identical twins, now seven years old, one of whom was taken shortly after birth and given the results of the best scientific ideas about child conditioning, at a modern child study clinic.

The other little boy was allowed to grow up naturally, like any kid on the block.

It turns out now that the scientific twin hates school, like to play rather than study, and gets marks only little better than average.

The unscientific twin gets "perfect" marks, loves school, is quite an athlete and bosses his scientific brother around.

We know, ha-ha, that this doesn't prove anything, ho-ho-ho, that you need more evidence than this to settle the argument, ha-ha-ha, but, anyway, hee-hee, when we think of those serious-minded professors—ho-ho-ho! We'll have to stop, this is killing us.

THE KING IN A.R.P. TEST

THE KING AND QUEEN took part in an Air Raid Precautions test at Windsor Castle last week. Their daughters—Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret—and the Duke and Duchess of Kent also took part.

An "attack" from the air was arranged, and when the Castle sirens sounded all lights were extinguished.

Then the King and Queen and other members of the Royal Family made their way through darkened passages, carrying small torches, to a bomb-proof shelter.

The Castle's elaborate A.R.P. organization, which numbers several hundreds, carried out demonstrations of first aid and decontamination work, watched by the King and Queen.

Lord Wigram is the head of the organization, which is comprised of members of the Household Staff at Windsor and permanent residents in the Castle. Lord Wigram is not the only member of the Royal entourage to be working actively in A.R.P. organization. Lieut.-Colonel Piers Legh has recently taken charge of A.R.P. at St. James' Palace.

FORGOTTEN WELL

THE WHOLE OF THE STAFF and a number of barristers in the Middle Temple are being trained in A.R.P. work.

Preparation for emergency has led to the reopening there of a well which has not been used for over 100 years. It is estimated that the well can hold from 2,000 to 3,000 gallons and the object of reopening it is to increase the water supply for fire-fighting.

It is also proposed to enlarge the Temple Fountain, which has at present a capacity of about 8,000 gallons.

Gas masks are now compulsory at Eton, I hear.

Mr. Claude Elliott, the headmaster, has informed the parents of the 70 boys who will join the school at the new term beginning in May that they must provide a standard mask as part of their compulsory equipment.

All the present pupils already have masks.

A suggestion that new motor cars of between 15 and 20 horsepower should be designed with a detachable back so that they could be used as ambulances in an emergency has been sent by Belfast Air Raid Precautions committee to Sir John Anderson, Civilian Defence Minister.

Probably you are now exclaiming to yourself: "I think that is enough about A.R.P. for this week." I quite agree. I would like to give you more cheerful reading. But this letter attempts to convey to you something of the "atmosphere" in this country at the time when it is written. Music and flowers would be pleasanter topics for me to write about and for you to read about.

But the cold, hard truth is that most people are not thinking about music and flowers. They are thinking about A.R.P. and Territorials and warships and bombers. That is why you are getting so much about these things in this letter.

EASTER PARADE

THERE MAY HAVE BEEN dark clouds on the European horizon, but the sun shone on Britain for the Easter holiday. At a time of strain like the present, the warmest Easter Monday since 1928 provided just the tonic we needed. Broken pacts and promises were forgotten, as were mackintoshes and umbrellas.

The highest temperature recorded was 68 degrees. This may not seem much cause for excitement, but please remember that the average temperature for Easter Monday, Britain's first great national holiday of the year, is 53 degrees. The day was an enormous improvement on last year, when there were cloudy skies and a northeast wind.

Because of the weather, it was an out-of-doors holiday. Thousands traveled into the country and to the sea—roughly £1,000,000 was spent on railway fares. Girls showed off their new bathing dresses and beach pyjamas.

4,000 CARS AN HOUR

MANY FAMILIES, of course, traveled by motor car—so many, in fact, that during the homeward rush at the end of the holiday cars were streaming into London on all important roads at the rate of 4,000 an hour.

Although Londoners deserted their city, great numbers of people flocked here from the provinces. With its many open spaces carpeted with the brilliant green grass of early spring the vast town looked almost at its best.

Nearly all the indoor shows in London—museums, art galleries, and so on—attracted fewer visitors than last year. One of the few where the attendance was greater was the Imperial War Museum, where the figure was 1,500 higher than last year. Was there any significance in this, I wonder?

Since Easter the temperature has leapt up another 10 degrees. The highest point was reached just after one of Buchan's famous "cold spells" was due to have begun.

THE INFANTRY OF THE MIND

Never forget the magnificence of those Whose selfless effort in the mighty aim
Of conquering ignorance, outlawing shame,
Made them, in life, remorseless mankind's foes:
Freud's cure, Columbus' vision, Galileo's
Voyage through space; rebels whose very name
(Like Jan Castellio, scorning Calvin's fame)
Yields to the notoriety of heroes'.
Clawed with the talons of their tiger love,
Trampled beneath the marching of their hate,
These the world honors still; but heart and brain
Spent in the anguish of the world's rebuff
Have but for recompense the good estate
Of those who accept the profit of their pain.

VICTORIA'S TRANSPORTATION

To the Editor:—On April 13 property owners of the city were asked at a plebiscite if they favored continuation of street cars for three years. The measure fell 84 votes short of the necessary three-fifths majority as required by Section 177 of the Municipal Act.

This meant street car continuation was defeated, requiring Mayor Andrew McGavin and the City Council to advertise for tenders to create a new transportation system. The dictatorial Victoria Street Railwaymen's Association wants the council to disregard the provisions of the Municipal Act, which governs the actions of every municipality in the province, and to ask special authority from the provincial Legislature to continue the antiquated street cars.

At least three of the present street cars are 50 years old. They, and most of the others in service, are noisy, dirty, slow and have rickety bodies fast falling to pieces. I fear a thorough examination by a government safety inspector would result in a number being instantly condemned as a public menace.

Surely Victoria is entitled to a modern transportation system? Buses seem to be indicated. It would be a sad state of affairs if the mayor and council placed the interests of a handful of company employees before the welfare and comfort of Greater Victoria. The employees have no right to attempt to dictate to the municipal government.

Mayor McGavin should be congratulated for his efforts to secure lower light and power rates, and better transportation. Unfortunately the apathy of several aldermen undoubtedly proves they do not want the light and transportation issues settled.

B.C. AT SAN FRANCISCO

To the Editor:—In the several very gratifying comments which have appeared in your columns on British Columbia's display at the Golden Gate International Exposition, reference has been made to the difficulty which visitors are experiencing in locating the display, due to the fact that no mention is made of it in the official publications.

Might it be pointed out, for the guidance of future visitors, that British Columbia is very definitely mentioned in the "Official Guide Book," which is really the only authentic and authorized guide to Treasure Island.

In this, British Columbia is mentioned first in the section on "What to See"; again in the Index Directory and still again, at some length, in the 3-page section devoted to the Hall of Western States, where British Columbia's exhibit is extremely prominent.

Still further prominence is being given to it by the display of the Union Jack on one of the two tall flagpoles which flank the main approach to the hall.

"LOST TO SOCIETY"

To the Editor:—"How can we arrange the economic activities of mankind in such a fashion that the wealth, which is at present lost to society, may be retained for its use?"

Thus wrote a famous Frenchman, P. J. Proudhon—to a famous German, Karl Marx. Even at that time, in the middle of last century, the gospel of plunder, the slogan of "soak the rich" was seen to be absurd. When there is plenty for all, why need anyone be "soaked"? An Age of Abundance calls for co-operation, rather than for confiscation.

Canada is maintaining hundreds of thousands of capable and willing wealth-creators, year after year, in enforced and detested idleness. All the wealth, which they could produce, is "lost to society." No one gets it. It is never produced. All of us lose it. It is sheer, senseless, wicked waste.

In a recent book, "America's Capacity to Produce," it is shown that only 80 per cent of the national productive capacity is used during the year. If it were fully utilized, the present output of wealth (the good things of life) could be increased say 20 per cent. That additional output would be clear gain; it would not be "taken" from anyone. It would be brand new wealth, created by the hands that are now idle or only partially employed.

Every Canadian chomeur, every homeless transient in the Dominion, every able-bodied inmate of our shelters or similar charitable institutions, could be adding to the real wealth of the country, could be enriching the nation. Every one of them could enjoy economic security, domestic comfort, and his fair share of the ordinary amenities and refinements of civilized life—and no one need be "soaked" at all. All of us would be richer, and no one need be poorer.

A Vigorous Tilt At Psychologists

Public Opinion (London)

The psychologists have so much said in their favor these days they will not mind something by way of criticism. Writing in the Montreal Family Herald, the Rev. Canon Allan P. Shatford says:

To explain a particular type of man on the basis of glandular developments is like attributing the nature of a tree to its knots. It is the life-force in the tree that builds the trunk, branches, leaves and fruit. You can distinguish the oak from the pine by studying the structure, but it is not the structure that decrees the type of tree. Similarly it was the individual type of man that declared the character of the glands. How did we come to recognize that a certain type of face is associated with peculiar thyroid glands, or that a particular kind of brain was connected with different pituitary glands? It was the man who was first studied—the glands were the effect and not the cause.

In our day the pyschologist is apt to claim too much by the action of the glands. Man is something more than a bundle of complexes and reactions.

The sum of the matter is this: Behind all the inferior and secondary causes there is the Great First Cause. Call him God or elan vital or what you will. The name matters little, so long as we recognize that there is something beyond matter, a creative energy that works upon the substance of life as the potter works upon the clay. It gives greater dignity to life, and surely exalts every profession that has to do with the care of human beings. Modern doctors cannot do better than follow the lead of the ancient and modern fathers, recognizing the "moral element" in their work.

Song of Birds Comes Before the Flowers

Why is man interested in the song of the birds? There is a reason, adds F. C. S. in the Birmingham Post. It is because they tell him so much about himself that he is liable to forget. Man is an animal. Good! But if he makes too much of that fact he will miss the best things in life. Let him look around and remark one outstanding thing, which is that animals, creatures made to crawl or walk, never sing.

They growl, or grunt, or bark, or bray and make all kinds of noises, but they do not sing. When they are enraged, or staking out their claims, they are most unmusical.

Creatures limited to the soil are never songsters. That is something worthy of man's thought—for himself. Neither do the very large birds sing. They quack, or hiss, or "spit," or "gobble." They also are largely confined to the earth. It is the little fellows who can, at a bound, reach the top of the tallest tree and conquer space at will, that provide real song.

They have freedom. The sky, as well as the earth, is theirs. The analogic moral is obvious. There remains a question. Suppose that man has lost his "wings," or possessing them, fails to use them? Suppose that he consents to limit himself to small areas and forgets the higher spaces. That might account for a number of things.

The fact is that man is made to sing, and in song to express the very best of himself and go beyond himself to that larger Life for which he was made. For man has "wings of the soul." He was never meant to crawl or to be limited to his restricted earth life.

He was made for the infinite. Certainly he can sing while bound to his earth, but if he never rises higher than his earth, he will only sing of the things which absorb him, never of the things which are above him and which draw him upward.

REPAIR THAT CAR

From Toronto Star

Toronto police are soon to undertake a campaign against unsafe motor cars. Last year nearly 200 sets of markers were confiscated pending the necessary correction of defects.

This is a wise precaution. Many old vehicles reappear upon the roads in spring without the necessary overhaul; and some, perhaps, which are beyond repair except at a cost which their value does not justify.

It would be a mistake to suppose, however, that these cars constitute the only or even the greatest traffic menace. A careless or reckless driver in a fine modern car is a potential death-dealer. And a modern car with defective brakes or other mechanical faults is more dangerous than an old one, because it is driven, usually, at a higher speed.

The police will no doubt check up on cars of all ages. There is, unfortunately, no such easy way of checking up on drivers of all ages. An examination every few years would help, but even an expert driver becomes a menace if he takes too many chances or too many drinks.

Mill Fire Was Great Spectacle

Loss in C.P.S. Blaze Saturday Night Placed Near $6,500

A smouldering heap of ruins was all that remained today of most of the buildings of the disused Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Mill on the harbor waterfront after a spectacular fire Saturday night.

Damage was not great, but the fire was seen for miles and attracted thousands of Victorians who could see its reflection in the sky. The loss, partly covered by insurance, was unofficially placed at about $6,500.

The mill was formerly owned by the city after it reverted two years ago. At that time, however, it was repurchased by the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber and Timber Company for charges outstanding against it.

The flames were first discovered at 10.20 by W. Millard, nightwatchman at the mill, and within an hour they had swept through the mill buildings. The fire started in a store shed near the old B.C. Electric substation, which adjoined the mill property. Mr. Millard ran for an emergency hose nearby, but when he returned the flames had reached such proportions they could not be stopped.

ALL EQUIPMENT OUT

The first alarm was received by the city fire department at 10.30 and equipment from headquarters, Yates Street and Burnside halls responded. In addition, 18 men off shift were called in and all spare wagons were put into use.

At various times during the fire B.C. Electric property adjoining the mill was threatened, but work of firemen prevented spread of the flames.

The flames did reach a stack of coal within 60 yards of the Victoria Gas Company's gasometers on Government Street, but fortunately progressed no further. A two-story building used for storing sawdust for the Manning & Shaw Fuels Limited was destroyed.

The brick wall of the B.C. Electric substation on the north side sprang outwards about six inches during the height of the blaze, but constant streams from fire hoses kept it from collapse.

The actual loss by the lumber company was placed at about $5,000 by J. D. Kissinger, president of the company. This comprised three lumber sheds and a Ross carrier, valued at about $2,000, which was the only machinery lost.

GREAT SPECTACLE

Reaching tremendous heights the flames presented a great spectacles of illumination for the thousands of people who lined Government Street and all the short streets leading to the harbor front. It was the reflection of flames in the windows of the Central Building which was responsible for a false alarm being sent to the fire department that a fire had started in the downtown structure.

Every available fireman was on the job, and operations were directed by Fire Chief Alex Munroe.

Traffic control constituted a major difficulty between 10.45 and midnight. All members of the city police force due to go off shift at 11 were kept on duty, while the new shift was also concentrated in the area to prevent serious tie-ups. Chief J. A. McLellan and Inspector J. T. Boulton took personal charge of this work.

Members of the St. John Ambulance Association were on hand to render medical assistance in the event of accidents, while a number of Boy Scouts turned out to assist the firemen in handling hoses.

Vegetable Show To Be Held May 24-31

The B.C. Agricultural Association has embarked upon a new policy of expanding its field of activity, and this year will hold a spring vegetable and flower show at Central Park from May 24 to 31 inclusive, it was announced today by W. H. Mearns, secretary of the association.

It is the wish of the directors, Mr. Mearns said, to encourage the growth of vegetables, and it is thought that by holding an early spring show more persons will be encouraged to raise produce for exhibit later in the fall fair, so that the standard may be raised to an even higher level.

In preparation for the event, rules have been drawn up. Entry forms may be secured from the exhibition office at the Willows. All entries must be in not later than May 17. Only one entry will be allowed to each exhibitor in each class.

Forty-eight classes have been provided, with a fine prize list to attract as many exhibitors as possible. There are 25 classes for vegetables, 12 for growing plants and 11 for cut flowers.

Arion Club Will Sing Tomorrow

The program to be given by that veteran choir of male voice singers, the Arion Club, is varied and has many popular and new numbers never heard in Victoria previously.

The concert will be held tomorrow evening at 8.30 in the Empress Hotel ballroom and the assisting artists will be Katheen and William Irvine in piano duets, using two grand pianos. These two young Victorians have established quite a reputation, and will undoubtedly please the audience. Other soloists from the ranks of the members will be Seymour White and Fred Wright.

ASTRONOMER ON EASTERN TRIP

Dr. J. A. Pearce left on Saturday evening on an extended trip east, mainly to attend the meeting of the Royal Society of Canada in Montreal, May 22-25. He will first, however, go to the McDonald Observatory in Texas to attend the dedication ceremonies, May 4-9, as the representative of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory. After these ceremonies he will spend a short time at his home in Mitchell, Ontario, and also a few days at Ottawa before the Royal Society opens. At the Royal Society he will present seven important astronomical papers prepared by himself and other members of the local institution. He will also address two or three of the centres of the Astronomical Society while in the east.

ST. MARY'S SCOUTS

The weekly meeting of St. Mary's Troop was opened by Duty Patrol Leader Dave Cornall. Following roll call and inspection, a lively circle tag game was played, after which instruction in second class signalling was given, and a new compass instructional game was played. A start was made on several much-needed repairs to the headquarters. A court of honor followed the close of the meeting. Four Cubs left their respective packs and became recruits in the scout troop; they were: Jerry McKechnie, Scott Kerr, Harry Erickson and Geoffrey Cridge; Ken Travis was also welcomed to the troop.

300 Lodge Members At Church Service

A special service was held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church last evening when approximately 300 members of Victoria Lodge No. 1 and Columbia Lodge No. 2, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1 and Cairne Rebekah Lodge No. 43 attended.

The annual service had a special significance as 1939 marks the 120th anniversary of the founding of the order in America and also the 75th anniversary of the establishing of Victoria Lodge No. 1, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Rev. J. L. W. McLean preached the sermon, "Everyday Religion," in which he spoke of the order's aim of practicing every day Christianity preached on Sundays.

Alec McCabe, secretary of Lodge No. 1, read the Scripture. Other Odd Fellows acted as ushers, the centre section of the church downstairs being reserved for the 300 visitors.

Special music was rendered by the choir. The anthem sung was "The Pilgrims of the Night" (Nichol), and Mrs. J. Radcliffe, a member of the choir, sang a solo, "The Holy City" (Adams).

Flower Show Entries To Close Tomorrow

Entries for the Spring Flower Show of the Victoria Horticultural Society, at the Willows on Friday and Saturday of this week, will close tomorrow. Intending exhibitors must notify the secretary, Alderman D. D. McTavish at 28 Douglas Street, telephones E3913 or E8475, of the classes in which they wish to enter.

Competition in the various classes is not confined to members of the society, but is open to members of the public. There are special classes for beginners. All information may be obtained from the secretary.

Oak Bay Building Figures Down

Fewer houses are being built in Oak Bay this year, it is shown by municipal figures for the first four months of the year.

Permits for work with a total value of $138,977 were issued at the municipal hall from January 1 up to Saturday compared with $149,295 during the same period of 1938, but the latter figure included $11,750 for the municipality's new fire hall.

The work this year has included 27 new houses, against 40 in the first four months of last year. The average value of the new homes, however, has risen from $3,640 to $4,154.

Last week was a particularly active one for building in the municipality, with seven permits issued for work costing $25,550.

April building totaled $56,970, compared with $62,650 in the same month of last year.

Niagara Bridge Site Purchased

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) —Sale of the site of the destroyed "honeymoon" bridge to an Ontario-New York commission at the week-end cleared the way for construction of a new span overlooking Niagara Falls.

The International Railway Company, owner of the famed span that collapsed under pressure of an ice jam in January, 1938, announced it had contracted to sell "real estate, rights and transferable franchies" to the Niagara Falls Bridge Commission, an international body preparing for construction of a bridge at another site.

The new bridge will be erected downstream below the falls where the collapsed Falls View span crossed Niagara Gorge.

Well-known Girl Quietly Wed This Morning

Miss Helen Redgrave Becomes Bride of Mr. Cyril E. Richards

A wedding of much interest in Victoria, as well as in the interior of British Columbia, was solemnized this morning in the Memorial Chapel of St. Andrew's Cathedral, when Helen Doran, daughter of Mrs. Stroud Lincoln Redgrave, 619 Harbinger Avenue, and the late Mr. Redgrave, one of the pioneer families of British Columbia, became the bride of Cyril Ernest Richards of "Birchlea," Enderby, B.C., son of the late Mr. Henry James Richards and Mrs. Richards, of Hamilton House, Eastbourne, England.

Rev. Cyril E. Evans of Campbell River was the celebrant of the nuptial mass, and officiated also at the wedding ceremony. The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Stephen Redgrave, in the presence of the immediate family, and the simple beauty of the chapel was accentuated by the floral decorations in blue and white.

Following the wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother, Harbinger Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Richards left on a motor tour of the south. Later they will reside at their home in Enderby.

The bride holds the office of National (English) vice-president of the Canadian Federation of Convent Alumnae, of which organization she was first governor of the British Columbia chapter, and largely instrumental in its formation; she is also a past president of the Junior Catholic Women's League of Victoria.

Farmer's Note Found In Box of Apples

ST. MARTINS, Guernsey, Channel Islands (CP)—Inside a barrel of Canadian apples sent to a firm of fruit merchants here, Warehouseman T. Carre found a note, "Housekeeper, wanted. Farm well stocked," bearing the address of a farmer in Kingston, N.S.

Carre has written to the farmer, saying the domestic servant shortage is as acute here as it is in Canada.

Windsor Lad, Race Star, Near Death

NEWMARKET, Eng. (AP)—Veterinary specialists were fighting behind chained stable doors in this famous racing town today to save the life of the 1934 Epsom Derby winner, Windsor Lad, thoroughbred that won the St. Leger as well as the Derby in his three-year-old season. A growth developed near the brain last autumn, and yesterday a second major operation was performed in an effort to save the animal's life.

BUYS B.W.I. ISLAND

PLYMOUTH (AP) — Rosita Forbes, British author-explorer, announced today she had bought an island in the British West Indies called Eleuthera, "eight miles from civilization," where she would make her home.

Weddings

BERGSTROM—CHAMBERS

At Christ Church Cathedral on Saturday evening at 8, Very Rev. Spencer H. Elliott, Dean of British Columbia, united in marriage Doris, second daughter of Mrs. B. Ripley, Balmoral Road, and of the late Mr. J. W. Chambers, and Mr. Eric Bergstrom, eldest son of Mr. W. Bergstrom, Menzies Street, and of the late Mrs. Bergstrom. Only members of both families attended the service.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her step-father, wore a beige and Japonica silk crepe dress, a Japonica hat trimmed with flowers in the two shades, worn beneath a veil, and a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. J. Francois was her sister's attendant, in a frock of gold nubby crepe, with rust accessories and a corsage bouquet of yellow roses, and in the unavoidable absence of Mr. Gordon Bergstrom, brother of the groom, Mr. Colin Chambers was groomsman.

Mrs. C. Borup, aunt of the bridegroom, assisted Mrs. Ripley in receiving the guests at the small reception held later at the home of the bride's mother, where masses of apple blossom, wallflowers and lilac had been effectively arranged. Small silver vases filled with moss and lady's slippers stood at each corner of the supper table, which was centred with the bride's cake flanked by two lovely candlesticks, dated 1794, of inlaid porcelain, holding tall pink tapers. After a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and Seattle, for which the bride left in a muskrat coat over her bridal outfit, Mr. and Mrs. Bergstrom will make their home at 658 Battery Street.

Among the gifts were a satin eiderdown from the bride's friend's on the staff of the Hudson's Bay Company, and a silver flower vase from Mr. R. M. Williams, head of the Alert Transfer Service, for whom the bridegroom drives the Royal Mail car.

The ex-B.C. telephone operators will hold their monthly tea at Spencer's on Tuesday, May 2, at 2.30 p.m. All operators are asked to be there.

Golden Gate Fair Going Institution

Word has been received in Vancouver by S. E. Nord, general manager of the Standard Oil that the Golden Gate International Exposition at San Francisco is a going institution and proving to be a great success.

"We have heard rumors in many parts of the Pacific coast that the exposition is not complete," Mr. Nord stated, "and that people who would otherwise visit Treasure Island are deferring their journey. These rumors are entirely unfounded. Every major building has been constructed with the exception of a men's club, plans for which were not made until after the exposition had opened in February.

"The exposition is a beautiful and entertaining affair and is well worth an immediate visit. The attendance since opening is up to expectations and will continue to grow with the coming of spring and summer."

Rangers Get Bolt

GLASGOW (CP) — Robert Bolt, robust right-half of Falkirk, will come to Canada with the Scottish Football Association touring team this month as a member of Glasgow Rangers. He was transferred to the light blues today at a fee understood to be about £1,800 ($8,460).

Before going to the Falkirk club Bolt played for Dumfermline and Hearts. He was born in Lochgelly, Fifeshire.

Child Health Day Is Observed

But Many Will Not Survive First Birthday, Says Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the 5,000 babies born in the United States today will have no better chance to see their first birthday than if born a year or even 20 years ago.

Katharine Lenroot, children's bureau chief, said that fact was her greatest worry as Americans joined in observance of Child Health Day.

"We know more about how to keep babies alive and children well," Miss Lenroot said, "but our problem is to get the health resources spread over the country."

There have been two recent cheering notes, she said. The maternity death rate, which declined 14 per cent to 49 per 10,000, between 1936 and 1937, probably will show an even larger drop for 1938.

The second bright spot, she added, was that because of recent surveys the country has a more complete picture of its health needs than ever before.

Claims Woodruff Misplaced Miler

Should Have Been First To Run Four-minute Mile, Says U.S. Coach

NEW YORK (AP)—Long John Woodruff had just run a 47.4-second quarter-mile to give Pittsburgh its fourth championship of the 45th Penn Relay Carnival. Earlier that day he had done better than 21.4 for 220 yards, and the day before he had run a 1.51.2 half-mile.

Each of those times is within hailing distance of a new world record. Yet Lawson Robertson, veteran coach of United States Olympic teams, was oddly reserved in his enthusiasm.

"That boy should have been the world's first four-minute miler," said Robbie. "With proper training, he would have been. But it's too late now. He's been running the wrong distances, and can't change over any more. It's too bad."

The four-minute mile, of course, has been every track man's dream since Glenn Cunningham and Jack Lovelock first started hauling the time down around 4.07. In view of that, Robertson's pessimistic reaction is understandable.

But if Long John should be extended to his limit some day, Robertson thinks he could run a half mile in 1.48, 1 2-10 seconds under Sydney Wooderson's still unofficial world record.

Rate Hurst as Ring Sensation

New Canadian Lightweight Champion May Turn Pro Shortly

MONTREAL (CP) — Around these parts it is the general belief among amateur fight followers that the world—and centainly Canada—holds few better men, pound for pound, than youthful Harry Hurst when it comes to filling a foe's whiskers full of fist.

Just on the verge of his 21st birthday, the dark-haired Hurst is the most-talked-of boxer in this city today and as newly-crowned king of the Dominion's amateur lightweight class has had a hatful of offers to turn to the monied game.

Hurst won the lightweight title here last Friday night by knocking out Harvey Dubs of Windsor, Ont., in the second round of a three-round bout.

He reached the final against Dubs by putting away defending champion Franke Williams of Regina in 1.59 of the third round.

The 21-year-old Hurst, who represented Canada at the last British Empire Games in Australia, would like to fight for the Dominion at the Olympic Games next year, but it is possible by that time he may have turned professional.

Italy's new 300-mile road crossing the sun-scorched Danakil desert to link Assab and Dessie is nearing completion.

BUDDY ENSOR ON COMEBACK TRAIL

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Laverne (Buddy) Ensor, wizened and grey, is on the jockey comeback trail at 39.

Ensor, who once had the racing world at his feet when he rode Exterminator and other thoroughbred greats, couldn't stand prosperity and hero worship.

But he is back on the beaten path now, confident he has at least three more years of riding in his system.

The Baltimore rider is old, as jockeys go, but he still is capable of making 105 pounds and booting home winners as attested by his three victories the closing day at Tropical Park.

He made his first score at Pimlico in the spring of 1917 astride Owaga.

Pigeon Racing

In 1 hour 52 minutes 3 seconds K. Barrie's pigeon flew the 70-mile air route from Seattle to Victoria over the week-end to head the field of 80 birds in the Victoria and District Pigeon Club's second old bird race of the season.

Just three seconds behind Barrie's entry was the racing bird of S. Knotts, while B. Woolley's entry was third, 50 seconds behind the winner. Other entries and their flying times follow: W. R. Tait, 1.56.12; J. Bowcott, 1.56.32; F. Burton, 1.58.28; E. Hill, 1.59.51; A. Renfrew, 2.15; J. Lang, 2.18.36.

Victoria Daily Times

Johnstown Is Heavy Threat

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

VICTORIA SPORTS FANS are going to be lost this week with no basketball games to take in. For six days they were kept in a continual dither over the bitter duels between our own Dominoes and Windsor Alumni in the Canadian final. We take this opportunity to extend congratulations to the Victoria players and team officials for bringing to the Capital City its third national crown.

Those five games on the fine new court at the Willows should certainly do basketball a lot of good. The game has always been well established in this city but now it should become even more popular as a winter attraction. Dominoes will open next season as Canadian champions and with several additions to the club in sight should have another big season. The Willows court will be available for their games and are certain to draw much bigger crowds, as the fans will be certain of good seating accommodation.

Considerable praise has already been given out to the Dominoes, but we would like to take this opportunity to give an added pat on the back to little Bert Davies, dynamic speed merchant of the Victoria team. Since the British Columbia playoff opened, through the Western Canada series and the nationals, Davies was the most improved player on the Dominoes. He really earned his starting position and it was a marvel to many how this 150-pound speedster could go through game after game and hold up. Don't think Davies was not bumped around, and how he ever came through that bruising collision with big Chuck Chapman we don't know.

Talked to Art Chapman on Saturday and he stated the toughest part of the entire series was that fourth quarter of the last game when he had to sit on the bench. Art went out of the game on personals at the close of the third period. "I had worse jitters than if I had been on the floor and that final gong was sure sweet music to my ears," he said.

It was a pleasure to see the fine spirit shown by the Windsor club in defeat. While the ball game was still on they were in there fighting for every point by hook or crook, but after it was over they were only too ready to congratulate the Victoria players and officials. The eastern champions did their share of squawking, but all of them were fine sports, and the protests only came when they figured they were not getting an even break. That is anybody's privilege in sport, and just goes to make things a little more interesting.

If Toots Meretsky decides definitely to remain in Victoria for the next year or so the Dominoes will pick up one clever player. On three occasions this lad has shown Victoria fans some smart play and he would fit onto the Victoria team like a spark-plug in a new automobile. With Meretsky on the floor the Dominoes would have one player who could settle them down. In addition to being cool the Windsor star knows his basketball and could help a lot bringing on the youngsters.

With basketball out of the way members of the Dominoes will turn their eyes to summer sports. Art and Chuck Chapman will likely turn out for lacrosse. Hank Rowe may play a little softball and work as a member of the Flying "Y" track squad. Busher Jackson and Bert Davies will be out on the tennis court. Gordy Batterson will go north again and help the natives run the Yukon. John Mylrea and Roy Taylor have no pet summer activities, as far as we could learn, so guess they will just loaf around and have an easy time. So guess it is "good-bye, boys" until next basketball season rolls around.

Victory Saturday Places Colt at Head of Kentucky Derby Candidates

NEW YORK (AP)—It's on to the derby for Johnstown.

William Woodward's long-striding bay colt proved Saturday beyond a doubt he'll be the horse to beat in next-Saturday's Kentucky classic by waltzing to a six-length victory in the one mile 70-yard Wood Memorial before a packed crowd of 18,000 at Jamaica.

Making his bid as he[r] field of eight headed into the last turn, the big son of Jamestown-Lafrance swept around Joe W. Brown's T. M. Dorsett and galloped home with nothing else in sight, while the deposed derby favorite, William Ziegler, Jr.'s El Chico, ran into trouble and finished way back in sixth place.

Victorious in his third three-year-old outing just as easily as in his first two, Johnstown equalled the record of 1.42 for this time-honored "derby prep," and was not far off the track mark of 1.40 4-5 which he himself set only four days ago.

VOLITANT SECOND

The rest of the field, which included five other derby eligibles, never had a chance once jockey Jimmy Stout gave the horse his head entering the stretch. Saratoga Stable's Volitant, with Don Meade up, came on well in the late going to wind up second, taking the place by a length and a half from Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Impound, with T. N. Dorsett, pacesetter for the first half mile, fading to fourth.

Although Volitant is not eligible for the derby, he and Johnstown will tangle again in the Preakness. But Impound, T. M. Dorsett, Chief Onaway, which finished fifth, El Chico and the seventh-place finisher, Mrs. John D. Hertz' Book Plate, all are eligible for the derby.

El Chico, after getting away well, was bumped heading into first turn, half stumbled and almost fell against the infield railing, and never recovered.

The Johnstown victory gave trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons four straight winners in the Wood as well as the honor of saddling the conquerors in both of Saturday's stake races. Before sending Johnstown out to grab off the $17,675 winner's share of the Wood purse, he put Fighting Fox, also favored, at 8 to 5, across in the Jamaica Handicap. This bay son of Sir Galahad II came on in the stretch to nip George D. Wirner's Salamis by a nose.

Grads Game Ahead

Defeat St. Louis 50 to 34 in International Women's Basketball Series

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Grads staged a great fourth quarter rally, good for 19 points to their opponents six, to defeat St. Louis Legions here Saturday night 50 to 34 in the third game of a best-of-five challenge series for the Underwood women's international basketball trophy. Grads have held the trophy since it was donated in 1923.

More than 4,000 fans were kept on edge as the teams battled on even ground for the first three quarters, during most of which Percy Page's team was ahead. Then Grads, without their captain and star centre, Noel Macdonald, raced ahead as the St. Louis defence fell apart in the final 10 minutes.

The win gave Grads a two-to-one edge in games in the series. They took the first game 35 to 24 and dropped the second nip and tuck battle 28 to 27. The fourth game will be played tonight.

Grads came from behind to lead 13 to 8 at the end of the first quarter, edged ahead 22 to 16 at half time, but fell behind again before pulling into a 31 to 28 lead at three quarter time. With about two minutes remaining of the third quarter, St Louis was ahead 28 to 25.

LOTS OF FOULS

Close officiating saw 17 personal fouls called against the Grads and 16 against the Legions. Only two players were banished with four personal fouls, Macdonald in the third quarter and Bernice "Dizzy" Frillman, Legion centre, in the fourth.

Mabel Munton, Grad guard battling illness throughout the series, led the scorers with 17 points. After collapsing in the dressing-room following the second game, Munton came back with a sensational shooting exhibition to score seven of 13 field shots. Etta Dann, the other regular Grad guard, counted 14 points and Helen Northup, diminutive forward, scored 10.

Frillman was top St. Louis scorer with 11 points. Forward Mary Dueker counted 10.

Grads had a marked advantage in the shooting accuracy, counting 21 of 50 field shots to 11 of 60 for St. Louis. Many of the Grad scores were on shots from more than 20 feet from the basket, Dann sank one from about 40 feet out and three or four from 25 feet away.

As the St. Louis team play collapsed in the last quarter, Grads scored almost at will. In one stretch they scored 16 points with only two points in reply from the Legions, both of which were made on foul shots.

Garrison Win From Esquimalt

Sore 4 to 1 Victory In Local Final of Province Cup Soccer

It was a soccer game—a final—played Saturday and finished with a 4 to 1 score. No, it wasn't the English Cup playoff, as that might intimate. It was a win for the local Garrison squad over Esquimalt in the final of the Province Cup series played at the Athletic Park.

But it wasn't good soccer. Esquimalt fielded a makeshift team and then were forced to play most of the second half with 10 men to 11 when Jimmy Stewart, inside right, was carried off with an injured ankle.

The dockers started the game with a stiff breeze and dominated play during the period, scoring their only goal first at the 35-minute mark. Stewart made the marker on a cross from Gordie Bell, who was playing centre-forward at the time. The ball went low and fast. Goalie Coldwell went to his knees to save but was too late.

Garrison made only a few drives into Esquimalt territory, but on those offensive plays were much more dangerous than the opposition.

SCORE TIED

The score was tied at the 40-minute mark, with Edwards, inside left, making good. He took a right cross from Thompson, right-half, drove it home.

The second half opened with the army lads having the wind at their backs, and they took over the offensive. Stewart was taken from the field at about the 20-minute mark with injuries and Garrison went to work.

At the 23-minute point, Worswick, inside right, made it 2 to 1 when he took a bounder from a scramble in front of the Esquimalt goal and drove clear of the mix-up to the right-hand corner.

Four minutes later, Edwards made his second and his team's third goal with a header from a right-corner kick from Shone. The docker's goalie was playing out of position on the kick and when the ball came in close Edwards had little trouble in making good.

Garrison's close attempts were too numerous to mention from this stage of the game on.

They made it 4 to 1 at the 38-minute mark with Worswick's second. He took the ball fast from a left-corner shot by Cook and beat the netminder to the punch.

Gordie Bell, who played practically every position on the Esquimalt forward line, was by far the hardest-working and best player on the field. His ball-handing was a treat to watch. The appearance of veteran Charlie Gould at Esquimalt's left wing position showed the true sport. It was his first game this season—putting on a uniform so that the dockers would have 11 men in play.

Robb refereed. Bill Huskins and Bill Hook handled the lines. Teams follow:

Esquimalt: Bill Stewart, Halkett, Laird, Holt, Moody, Banswell, John Watt, Jimmy Stewart, Gordie Bell, Purdy, Gould and J. Stewart.

Garrison: Coldwell, A. Wilkinson, Jim Watt, Kennedy, Thompson, Thordburn, Shone, Worswick, G. Wilkinson, Edwards and Cook.

Bill Dale Winner And Sets Record

PULLMAN, Wash. (CP) — Washington State College, helped along by the performances of two former British Columbians, gained revenge for a surprise beating last season when they trounced the University of Idaho track and field team 95 2-3 to 35¼ Saturday in a dual meet.

The State College Cougars took 12 of the 16 first places, four of them by the forfeit route when Idaho did not contest the 100, 220 and 440 dashes or the mile relay.

Bill Dale, former Victoria distance star and Canadian half-mile champion, now a W.S.C. sophomore, broke the tape in 1.55.4 in the 880 for a new Rogers Field record. The time was one-tenth of a second faster than the previous mark set by Ken Lendertsen, of Washington State College, in 1934.

Jack Orr, former Vancouver middle-distance man and now a member of the Washington State College squad, took the 440 in 48.7.

Two team-mates, Chace and Lang, were second and third respectively.

Boston Sox Move Into Deadlock With Yankees

Champs Beaten As DiMaggio Nurses Leg

Washington Whips New York 3 to 2; Boston Gains On Idle Cincinnati

It's going out of the way to find trouble for anyone to predict in the first Monday of the baseball season that a player who now is injured and out of the lineup will win a major league's most valuable player award come autumn.

Yet Joe DiMaggio, cooped up in his New York hotel room today with a leg tightly taped and bandaged, ought to be the choice of baseball writers when next they ballot. The records show that as Joe goes, so go the Yankees.

He tore some muscles in his right leg in a fall Saturday and the world champions immediately lost two games to Washington Senators yesterday by a 3 to 2 score.

In both games left-handed pitching triumphed, yet with the right-handed DiMaggio in the lineup New York did not lose to a southpaw at any time during the exhibition campaign (when as many as nine in a row started against them), nor in league games where they faced three portsiders.

This was the first time in the four seasons DiMaggio has been with the Yankees that they have

PREFERENCE GIVES SUVA ADVANTAGE

Supports Sugar Industry, Says Sir M. Hedstrom, Seeing City By Motor

Fiji's lifeline, the sugar industry, is maintained by the preferential tariffs with Great Britain and Canada, and but for that, with falling prices, it would be in a bad way," according to Sir Maynard Hedstrom of Suva who, with Lady Hedstrom, is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

They motored up the Pacific Coast in their own car, visited Vancouver and then crossed to Vancouver Island via Nanaimo, arriving here on Saturday afternoon to spend a few days "enjoying the unique beauty of Victoria."

On May 23 they will take passage by the liner Monterey from San Francisco to Suva.

"I was last in Victoria in 1924 and my wife and I have long promised ourselves this trip," said Sir Maynard. "It is a beautiful spot and requires some time to see and truly appreciate its attractiveness."

"I am charmed with the city and can truthfully say I have never spent a more delightful holiday," interjected Lady Hedstrom.

Sir Maynard met Charles F. Todd on his previous visit to this city and he again called upon him this morning in his offices in the Belmont Building.

Sir Maynard, who has retired from the political field, was formerly senior member in the administrative council at Suva.

NORMAN BAKER NAMED TRUSTEE

Government Names Him Commissioner of Municipal Superannuation

Norman Baker, superannuation commissioner for British Columbia, has been appointed by order-in-council the first trustee of the recently developed municipal superannuation fund and commissioner of municipal superannuation.

Changes in the administration of the pension fund of municipal employees of the province are expected to follow shortly. The act, passed at the last session of the Legislature, calls for appointment of two more trustees. These are expected to be named by the government shortly.

In future investment of the fund will be handled by the trustees instead of the B.C. treasury as in the past.

In former years the treasury was responsible if the superannuation fund took a loss on investments, or, if a profit were made, it went to the provincial coffers. Now, however, profits and losses will be handled directly by the fund.

Banks of Flowers Planned

City Council and Legislative Chambers Will Be Beautified for Receptions

Government and civic receptions to King George VI and Queen Elizabeth in Victoria at the end of this month will be given in chambers banked with flowers and potted plants, according to plans now nearing completion.

Their Majesties will hold court in the Legislative Chamber of the Parliament Buildings the morning of May 30. The members' desks will be cleared out and the King and Queen are expected to stand at the foot of the blue-carpeted Speaker's dais and shake hands with the persons presented to them.

The Legislative Chamber will be banked with flowers for the occasion. No painting or structural alterations will be carried out.

Flowers will also be banked in the Council Chamber of the City Hall for the civic welcome to Their Majesties. The Chamber is this week being painted and brightened.

Members of Provincial Parliament from all parts of the province, with their wives, are expected to come to Victoria for the government reception. They will be presented to Their Majesties.

Extensive alterations to Government House, where the King and Queen will remain two nights, will be completed this week. There are now between 20 and 25 workmen engaged in the last-minute rush. New drapes will be hung and new rugs placed in the suites to be occupied by Their Majesties and in the reception rooms.

MONTREAL (CP) — It took many years for Francois Severgnini to gain the opportunity of preparing fishes for a King and Queen.

But when the distinction finally came, it brought with it an opportunity for Francois to display his culinary ability day after day to King George and Queen Elizabeth. For Francois is the man who will prepare the Royal meals when Their Majesties travel to Canada on the liner Empress of Australia.

The special dishes of Francois are known to the Duke of Kent, the Duke of Windsor, Lord and Lady Bessborough, Lord and Lady Willingdon, the late Admiral Jellicoe and many other noted personages. He is one of the foremost chefs of the Canadian Pacific Steamships Line.

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — The Royal train glided smoothly along the banks of the St. Lawrence River yesterday in a trial run from Montreal to here and return in preparation for the visit of Their Majesties beginning May 15.

Fresh from the shops, six of the cars were resplendent in new paint of royal blue with gold and silver trimmings, and included two private cars borrowed from the Governor-General and in which the King and Queen will ride on their tour of Canada and a part of the United States. The remaining seven cars of the train were in green, and will form part of the pilot train running ahead of the Royal special during the tour.

When completed, the Royal train and the pilot train will each have 12 cars and will be drawn by locomotives specially prepared and repainted for the tour. One of the locomotives, Canadian National Railways engine No. 6028, shining in royal blue and gold, drew the special on today's trial run.

Driest April In Many Years

Not Since 1918 Has So Little Rain Fallen in Year's Fourth Month

The driest April in 21 years closed yesterday as Victorians looked back on a month of perfect spring weather, with warm days, more sunshine than usual in the fourth month of the year, and a wealth of blossom seldom equaled.

Total precipitation during the month was .36 of an inch, which was .82 below normal. Not since April, 1918, has so little rain fallen in April.

In April, 1905, there was only .21 of an inch; in 1878, .34 of an inch was registered.

The mean temperature for the month was 50 degrees—2 degrees above average. Maximum temperature was 71, on April 20; minimum was 36, on April 4. The warmest April day since 1934 was recorded.

On two occasions during the month frost hit the ground—5 degrees on April 5 and again yesterday morning, which was exceedingly chilly until the sun's warmth was felt. Some delicate seedling were slightly harmed by this frost, but generally speaking no harm was done, as gardeners have not yet put out the plants that are most susceptible to frost.

Precipitation for the first four months of the year is below average. A total of 9.73 inches was noted, which was 1.25 below normal.

April boasted 14 hours more sunshine than usual. For 222 hours the sun shone warmly and brilliantly.

All Victoria turned outdoors during the month, with the first picnics of the year. Many people went swimming for the first time; tennis courts were opened for the season; gardeners had a difficult time keeping up with the rapid growth of grass and shrubs.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Western Canadians sweltered this week-end in some of the hottest April weather on record.

The heat concentrated in Alberta Saturday and the maximum temperature of 89.5 at Edmonton was far above the previous April high of 82 recorded in that city in 1923. A windstorm struck the city Saturday evening, velocity reaching 60 miles an hour for a few minutes, but no damage was reported.

Maximum at Edmonton yesterday was 60 and at Calgary 51 with skies overcast. The heat wave ended in Lethbridge yesterday when .13 inches of rain fell.

Regina weather was like midsummer with the mercury reaching a high of 88.7 under a bright sun.

The maximum in Winnipeg was 68.9 Saturday but it reached 83 yesterday as the heat moved east across the prairies. Thousands crowded parks and golf courses as the mercury approached the April record of 84.8 set April 29, 1934.

PATTULLO WATCHES BY-ELECTION HERE

Premier Pattullo waited in Victoria today for the results of the by-election in Vancouver Centre to fill the seat in the Provincial Legislature left vacant by the recent death of Alderman Fred Crone.

The Premier will hear the results at his Beach Drive home, amid last-minute preparations to leave tomorrow afternoon from Esquimalt by airplane for Ottawa. He is anxious for the return of the Liberal supporter to strengthen his claims on the Dominion Government.

He will spend a few days in the federal capital and return here in time to welcome King George and Queen Elizabeth to British Columbia at the end of this month.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, one of two members in the Legislature for Vancouver Centre, waited today in Vancouver to see who will sit with him for that constituency and to personally congratulate the winner.

NAZI CAPTIVE—Scene from "I was a Captive of Nazi Germany" now showing at the Columbia Theatre.

'Idiot's Delight' At Atlas Theatre

The complete destruction of a great city by an air raid during a "future war" is graphically pictured in "Idiot's Delight," which comes today to the Atlas Theatre for an engagement of three days.

Not a fanciful version of such a raid, the sequence of bombing scenes is technically perfect, according to Director Clarence Brown, a graduate engineer and war-time flying instructor, who holds a transport pilot's license.

"The bombing episode was not written into the script merely for the sensation it will create," he said. "It is a definite part of the story."

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Pygmalion," the delightful comedy romance now showing at the Capitol Theatre, is the modern love story of a girl taken from the streets and made into a glamorous society debutante. It is George Bernard Shaw's most famous play, wise, witty and romantic and has the distinction of winning the Academy Award as the best written screen play of the year. Leslie Howard plays the leading role.

'Within the Law' to Open Tomorrow

Coming to the Dominion Theatre tomorrow is the modernized version of Bayard Veiller's magnificent stage drama, "Within the Law." The new picture retains all the powerful drama and vivid romance of the play but is strictly up to the minute.

Ruth Hussey is superb in the role of Mary Turner, created on the stage by Jane Cowl. Tom Neal has the male lead and a strong cast includes Paul Kelly, William Gargan, Paul Cavanaugh, Rita Johnson, Samuel S. Hinds, Lynne Carver, Sidney Blackmer, Jo Ann Sayers and Ann Morris.

Splendid Cast in Oak Bay Picture

A picture destined to stir and whip theatre-goers with its powerful reality as have few films before is "Angels With Dirty Faces," the Warner Bros. melodrama starring James Cagney and Pat O'Brien, which opens at the Oak Bay Theatre today.

The great cast assembled to play the roles in the film show at once the care which went into the production. Besides Cagney and O'Brien, the six "Dead End" kids play dirty-faced angels of the slums as only they can. Humphrey Bogart and George Bancroft take roles as crooked lawyer and politician, respectively, while Ann Sheridan provides the love interest with more than ordinary appeal.

NEW KENTUCKY DERBY GROUP

Former Winners and Big Racing Men Form Exclusive Club

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A "retreat" for 75 wealthy sportsmen, including several owners of Kentucky Derby winners, is an innovation at Churchill Downs this year. Admission to the place, called "Room 20," is by card only.

Several prominent horsemen lolled in the luxurious room today as they and the rest of the racing colony awaited the arrival of El Chico, due from New York today, and Johnstown, winner of the Wood Memorial at Jamaica Saturday. Johnstown, William Woodward's colt, has replaced the William Zeigler horse as favorite for Saturday's Derby running.

The 75 sportsmen who were mailed the admission cards to "Room 20" either have owned a Kentucky Derby winner or have made some outstanding contribution to racing.

No More Piles

Get Quick, Pleasant Relief

Probably not one person in ten knows the cause of piles is inside—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about piles and is the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give more than temporary relief—they do not remove the cause.

Your piles can not be relieved until you have corrected the condition which causes them. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who early in his professional life made many tests to relieve piles by correcting the cause. His medicine succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, eases the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

So if you have failed to get the relief you want from your sore, painful piles, and would like to give HEM-ROID a trial, you have our promise to return your money, if just one bottle of this prescription does not give pleasing results.—MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores or any druggist can supply you with the genuine HEM-ROID.

German Spy Story At the Columbia

At least seven of Isobel Lillian Steele's intimates in Berlin's gay social set were executed—two of the women beheaded, and five men, probably shot—as traitors and spies. How Miss Steele escaped the headman's axe through the intervention of the American State Department, sent into action on Miss Steele's behalf by Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, is frankly and truthfully depicted in Isobel Lillian Steele's own story, "I Was a Captive of Nazi Germany," which is the attraction at the Columbia Theatre.

Lieut.-Com. C. W. King Expected From England To Visit Brother

Lieut.-Commander C. W. King, who will arrive in Victoria on Ms. Pacific Enterprise tomorrow to visit to his brother, Armament Sergeant-Major E. King, 39 Constance Avenue, Esquimalt, master artificer of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, stationed at Signal Hill.

Commander King is familiar with the Esquimalt naval station, having served here on loan from the Royal Navy as torpedo gunner in H.M.C.S. Rainbow from 1910 to 1913. He returned to the Royal Navy in 1913 and during the war served in destroyers with the Harwich and Dover patrols, famous for the major share in escort and anti-submarine duty in the English Channel and North Sea. After the war he was stationed at Gibraltar and Lee-on-Solent as torpedo naval store officer, and retired with the rank of lieutenant-commander in 1930.

Commander King is a well-known wing shot, a native son of Portsmouth and supporter of the Portsmouth Football Club, this year's winners of the English Cup.

Commander King expects to return to England in July.

Halibut Captains To Be Licensed

OTTAWA, (CP)—The Department of Fisheries announces that under amendments to the British Columbia fisheries regulations, halibut and black cod fishing will be brought under license on January 1, 1940. Captains of boats engaged in these fisheries will be required to have an annual license costing $1.

Another amendment, also made by order-in-council, sets aside Horseshoe Bay, near Vancouver, and a small adjoining area in Howe Sound as a sport-fish and tourist area which forthwith will be closed to all commercial fishing. Two relatively small areas adjoining the north and south channel jetties at the mouth of the Fraser River also will be closed to commercial fishing of all kinds. The department said purpose of this latter change is to facilitate a reasonable and orderly escapement of salmon at this point.

Under a further amendment purse-seining for herring is prohibited in waters along that portion of the north coast of Graham Island, in the Queen Charlottes, lying between Knox Point and Shag Rock. The department said it is contended that herring seining in those waters is injurious to important salmon trolling operations there and pending an investigation by the federal fisheries research board the seining operations are being forbidden.

Various other amendments of minor importance respecting commercial fishing have likewise been made, as well as several relating to sport fishing. The latter changes were made at the instance of the provincial game commission.

Around the Docks

Empress of Canada Early On Wednesday

Bound here from the Orient via Hawaii, Ss. Empress of Canada, Capt. William T. Kinley, will arrive in quarantine at 5.30 and dock at the Rithet piers at 7 Wednesday morning, it was announced today by James Macfarlane, general agent, Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Empress of Canada has a large passenger list, including a number who will disembark here for Seattle and United States points. A total of 475 bags of mail and 145 tons of cargo will be put ashore here before the white liner clears for Vancouver.

Aorangi Docks Friday

The Canadian-Australasian motorliner Aorangi, Capt. Thomas V. Hill, with passengers and cargo from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu, will make William Head at noon Friday, docking here about an hour later, according to the latest radio advices received from the ship.

The big motorship has 273 bags of mail and 70 tons of cargo for discharge at Victoria.

On her return to Australia the Aorangi will be laid up at Sydney for her annual refit in drydock. She will be temporarily replaced on this route by the liner Monowai.

Furness Boat Due

Leaving Seattle about 6 this evening, Ms. Pacific Enterprise, of the Furness (Pacific) Line, will make Victoria overnight and will commence discharging at the Rithet docks first thing in the morning, according to King Bros., local agents for the line.

The Pacific Enterprise is from Manchester via California and Puget Sound ports and has passengers and general cargo for Victoria and Vancouver.

Five Men Killed in Freight Wreck

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Five men were killed when a double-header freight train ran through a derail and over the end of a "stub track" on the Pennsylvania Railroad near here yesterday.

The bodies were recovered by wrecking crews, two of them from beneath the overturned engines. Pennsylvania Railroad officials said they did not know how the accident occurred.

Apologizes for Genoa Incident

ROME (AP)—The agent of the American President Line at Genoa was disclosed today to have apologized to Italian authorities for an incident when the liner President Garfield sailed from that port last Tuesday.

(Two members of the President Garfield's crew were in the ship's brig when she reached Marseilles, France, last Wednesday night. They were accused of shouting "Down with Mussolini!" and of provoking an unfriendly exchange with Italians as the vessel drew away from the dock at Genoa.)

Tug Madge On Ways

CONVERT BOMBERS TO PEACE USE

Planes Will Be Used To Refuel Clippers Over Atlantic

MONTREAL (CP)—Converted into peace-time usefulness, two large bombing planes were towed across the St. Lawrence River to Longueuil today to be assembled as refueling planes for trans-Atlantic clippers.

The planes—Handley Page Harrow bombers with twin Bristol engines—were lifted in sections from the freighter Beaverford yesterday. They will be flown to Newfoundland to take their place as important cogs in Imperial Airways' trans-Atlantic machine.

Flight Lieutenants H. C. Johnson and D. D. Atkinson of the Royal Air Force corps reserve will fly the ships to Newfoundland in about two weeks, in readiness for opening of trans-Atlantic mail service some time in June. The planes will be based at Newfoundland airport, hewed out of dense forest at what formerly was known as Hattie's Camp, 200 miles north of St. John's and a short distance by air from Botwood, a stop-off place for the clippers.

Refueling of the trans-ocean planes while in flight would mean the difference between a pay-load and a losing-money flight, Johnson said when he arrived here.

The transfer of 7,000 pounds of fuel will take about 15 minutes. East-bound planes will make Botwood their last stopping point on the west side of the Atlantic.

Strike Threat On Columbia Broken

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP)—Commercial salmon fishermen hauled their nets in the Columbia River today, the first of the season, for 12 cents a pound on their catches.

A price deadlock between the Columbia River Fishermen's Union and Packers, which threatened to keep the boats off the river, was broken yesterday when fishermen voted to accept the packers' offer. Fishermen had demanded an extra cent.

Bottle Drifted 3,900 Miles in 30 Months

BOSTON — A bottle which Capt. R. A. Clarke, master of the Canadian National liner Lady Drake tossed overboard on October 8, 1936, when the ship was approximately 260 miles south of Bermuda on a regular West Indies cruise from Boston and Halifax, has been found on the westerly coast of France, according to advice received by the U.S. Hydrographic office here. The bottle had drifted approximately 3,900 miles in the 30 months it had been adrift. The hydrographic office found this report useful in its study of Atlantic ocean currents.

Montreal Port Open

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal's shipping season opened with a rush today, as a continual stream of vessels of all descriptions steamed into port, their whistles blasting out calls for tugs barely able to handle the rush. More than 50 vessels, held at Quebec a fortnight by unfavorable ice conditions above there, were moving into port here.

London Market

LONDON (AP)—The stock market steadied in late dealings today after an early sell-off. Coppers and most industrials, however, ended close to the day's lows. British funds headed downward and trans-Atlantics and oils fell back largely on continental selling. Kaffirs were offered from Capetown. European bonds slanted lower.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—A good demand from southern and overseas houses prompted by continued unfavorable reports from the United States winter wheat belt lifted Winnipeg wheat future prices substantially today. Values at the close were ⅝ to ¼ cent higher, May at 63⅝, July 64½ and October 65⅝ to 65¾.

The market also was aided by absence of May contract tenders at Chicago as well as light May contract tenders at Winnipeg, which were only 318,000 bushels.

World wheat shipments last week reached 11,603,000 bushels, compared with 11,333,000 bushels the previous week and 12,609,000 bushels last year.

There was fair demand for oats, barley and Nos. 2, 3 and 4 Northern in cash wheat.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat prices shot up 1¾ to 2½ cents a bushel today to the highest levels since last summer as the market resumed its sharp advance based on reports of less favorable crop conditions in the southwest.

No material moisture relief was received over the week-end and none was promised. Rains also were reported badly needed over large sections of the Dakotas.

Foreign Exchange

LONDON (AP)—The United States dollar finished net unchanged in the foreign exchange market today, being quoted $4.68⅛ to the pound and compared with sterling at $4.68 in New York over the week-end. French francs ended at 176.69 to the pound, against 176.75 on Saturday.

NEW YORK (AP) — Foreign exchange late rates; Great Britain in dollars, others in cents:

Great Britain 4.68, 60-day bills 4.66¼; Canada, Montreal in New York 99.56¼; Canada, New York in Montreal 100.43¾; France 2.65.

Calgary Oils

CALGARY (CP)—Oils were firm on Calgary Stock Exchange in light trading today.

Anglo-Canadian gained 2 at 98. Transfers totaled 3,300 shares.

Session Slowest in Years

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks drifted over an irregularly lower route in today's market.

Little significance could be attached to declines ranging from fractions to more than a point inasmuch as the session was one of the slowest in nearly five years. Transfers approximated 275,000 shares.

A few issues, including sugar company stocks which were aided by firmness of the staple, worked counter to the trend for modest advances.

Bonds were slow and uneven throughout, as were commodities.

Among retreating stocks were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Boeing, Anaconda, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, Santa Fe, Johns-Manville and Standard Oil of N.J.

Sterling and the French franc, near midafternoon, were about unchanged, the former at $4.68 3-16 and the latter at 2.65 cents.

The Human Eye

As we look about us, in this spring season, we may see flowers and other beauties of Nature, and for our power of sight, we can thank our eyes.

The human eye is a wondrous thing. Light waves pass through the eye, until they strike the "retina." Then a message goes to the brain by way of the optic nerve, and quickly we know what we see.

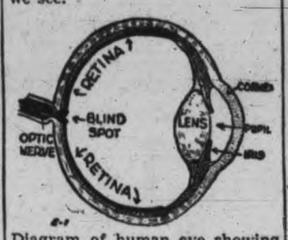

Diagram of human eye showing blind spot.

A person can see things with only one eye, but he cannot judge disance or place so well unless he has two. Each eye sees a thing just a little differently than the other. The "pictures" enter different optic nerves, and combine in the brain to form a single view.

The colored part of the eye is known as the "iris." It is circular, and contains small muscles. A person with blue eyes has dark pigment at the back of the iris of each eye, but that seems to be the only coloring in blue eyes. Brown eyes and hazel eyes have coloring at the back of the iris, and coloring also goes on the little muscles of the iris.

The iris muscles act in their own way. When light is bright, they pull together. In this way they tend to close the opening, or "pupil," and do not let so much light through it.

The pupil seems black, but it really is just an opening. A doctor who treats the eyes uses an instrument which sends electric light through the pupil, and makes it possible for him to see the inner lining of the eyeball.

When there is little light in a room, or when a person is outside at night, the iris spreads out and makes a larger circle. This is to let more light pass through the pupil opening. We may see dimly in what we call "the dark," but there must be some bit of light—say starlight—to make it possible to see. Neither a man, nor an owl, nor a cat could see anything if there were absolutely no light.

Behind the outside part of the eye is a ball, usually about one inch in diameter. It contains a clear "jelly-like" substance, which lets light through as easily as would clear glass. Around this jelly, and lining the inside of the eyeball, is the coating known as the retina.

At the place where the retina joins the optic nerve is the so-called "blind spot" of the eye. I plan to tell a few things about the blind spot in our next Saturday Talk.

Again the stars seem to frown upon the planet Earth. According to astrology evil portents rule today after the early morning hours.

Mars in threatening aspect bodes ill for human understanding and may project conflicts among individuals and nations. Selfish aims will urge many toward acquisition of power.

Accidents may be numerous under this sway which causes undue nervous reactions. It is not an auspicious date for removals or for changes.

In many cities rentals will increase and housing problems will multiply. Taxes will arouse rebellion among property-holders.

Newspapers this month will contain sensational news regarding national and international leaders. A major scandal may be uncovered in Europe.

Political crises for Greece and Roumania are forecast.

Through the summer the nation is to be especially blessed and extraordinarily fortunate. The people are advised to make the most of all their opportunities to enjoy life.

Girls should attend strictly to their knitting today, awaiting visits or letters from young men who offer hearts and hands.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of average good luck. There may be delays in attaining success. Parents may be inclined to dictate concerning the choice of a vocation.

Children born on this day may possess temperament that must be wisely guided. These subjects of Taurus are usually very intelligent and many have extraordinary ability in the arts or sciences.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"Yes, he's back from the city—says something about having had his ears pinned back."

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—In a few days I start to work on my first job. What amount of money out of my salary should I give my parents, with whom I live? They will not ask me for board, but I feel that I owe them something. I have a friend whose parents tell him that he owes them for the years they cared for him and who, therefore, take his whole week's wages from him. They only give him 50 cents for carfare and they insist on buying his clothes, about which he has no say-so. What should we young people give our parents when we are earning steady wages?

PUZZLED.

Answer: That depends entirely upon circumstances. If the parents are poor, their children should give them just as much as they can spare out of their earnings. If the parents are well-to-do and do not need the money I do not think that they should charge the boy or girl who is just starting to work any board. Or, if they do, they should make the child understand that they are just saving it for him.

But in any event I do not think parents have a right to take a child's pay envelope from him and dole back a few cents to him. They should agree on a definite sum for the child to pay and let him have the satisfaction and the sense of independence it gives to handle his own money.

Nothing is more calculated to discourage a boy and girl than for their parents to deprive them of the fruits of their labor and make them feel that they are nothing but slaves who have to toil without reward. Of course, the parents justify themselves in grabbing the child's pay envelope by saying that they supported him during his infancy. That was merely their duty. They brought the child into the world without its consent and it was their duty to take care of it until it was able to fend for itself. Even animals recognize that moral obligation.

The parents also justify themselves by saying that they can spend money more wisely than the child can. But how is the child to learn to handle money if it is never permitted to touch what it makes? And certainly any boy or girl who has enough sense to hold down a paying job has at least the right to make his or her own mistakes.

My thought is that the duty of parents to children and children to parents is one that binds both; that, just as fathers and mothers should care for their children when they are babies, the children should care for the parents when they are old and helpless. If the fathers and mothers have been good and affectionate parents, it is very seldom that the children default on their obligation.

Vancouver Takes Dancing Awards

Ten of 11 Trophies in Musical Festival Section Carried Away

Of 11 silver trophies awarded as the folk dancing section of the Victoria Musical Festival concluded on Saturday night, 10 were carried off to Vancouver.

There were 340 dancers taking part in the competitions on the floor of Victoria High School gymnasium before an audience of 400. Colorful national costumes worn by many of the individual dancers and groups made the event a gala one.

Most highly applauded feature of the evening was a contest for English or Scottish folk dances by grade 7 and 8 groups in which six teams numbering in all 205 girls took part without any repetition in their selections.

The value to school spirit of having large groups of children competing in folk dancing contests was stressed by Miss Barbara Hinton, the adjudicator, in her comment on the school classes.

Results of the evening's competition were as follows:

Class 145, English or Scottish folk dance, grades 7 and 8: A, Central Junior High School, grade 8, Sixteensome Scottish; A Minus, Sir James Douglas, "Old Mole," North Ward, Ninesome reel, Central Junior High, Newcastle; B Plus, Willows School, "Merry, Merry Milkmaids," and Quadra School, "Shepherds' Holiday."

Class 153, Irish folk dance, Junior, retaining Sir John A. Macdonald Challenge Cup: Mary Isdale Dancers, Vancouver, 85.

Class 147, Scottish folk dance, A Minus, Central Junior High School, Ninesome reel.

Class 154, Irish folk dance, senior, retaining Radbourne Challenge Cup: Mary Isdale Dancers, Vancouver, 83.

Class 150, English sword dance, competing for Mrs. J. O. Cameron Challenge Cup: 1, Vancouver Folk Dance Club, 87.

Class 151, Morris dance, junior, winning Sayward Challenge Cup: 1, North Ward Morris Dancers, 85.

Class 155, English country dance, junior, retaining Kent Piano Company Challenge Cup: Mary Isdale Dancers, 84.

Class 156, English country dance, senior, for Elks' Challenge Cup: 1, Vancouver Folk Dance Club, 87; 2, Mary Isdale Dancers, 83.

Class 152, Morris dance, senior, winning Arion Club Challenge Cup: Vancouver Folk Dance Club, 88.

Class 158, Scottish folk dance, senior, competing for George MacGregor Challenge Cup: 1, Mary Isdale Dancers, Vancouver, 87; 2, St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society, 84; 3, 1st South Saanich Rangers, 82.

Class 157, Scottish folk dance, junior, winning Lady Barnard Challenge Cup: Mary Isdale Dancers.

Class 160, folk dance, not British, winning B.C. Electric Challenge Cup: Mary Isdale Dancers, 90.

started right out winning. In 1936 when he was a rookie he burned a foot at training camp and didn't break into the lineup until May 3. He hit a triple and two singles in his debut and the club, which had been fourth till that week, moved into first seven days later and never dropped back.

In 1937 he was delayed until May 1 by a tonsil operation and opened with three straight hits. Last year he was a holdout and finally started April 30. In the next two days he got two home runs.

Right now he is leading the American League in hitting with a .435 average and hasn't failed to hit safely in every game in which he has played. This is a good beginning toward his biggest year and his absence shows the Yankees' pennant pranks hinge very directly on his presence, both at bat and in the field.

Defeat of the Yankees yesterday enabled Boston Red Sox to climb into a tie for first place by belting Philadelphia Athletics 3 to 1. Jim Bagby didn't take any chances on his seven-hit hurling, deciding the game and contributing a home run to his own cause.

Detroit Tigers, both individually and collectively the majors' leading sluggers, turned loose a broadside against Cleveland to win 14 to 1, with Tommy Bridges holding the Indians to six hits and fanning eight. Charley Gehringer, who incidentally beat out DiMaggio for the most valuable player award in 1937, proved he still is a valuable hand by getting his third homer of the spring with the bases filled.

While Cincinnati Reds were rained out at Pittsburgh, Boston Bees won their third straight to push within half a game of the top. Their 3 to 2 victims were New York Giants, who have lost four in a row.

Chicago Cubs displaced St. Louis in third place by beating the Cardinals 4 to 1, although outhit 10 to 6. It was the second pitching triumph for rookie Gene Lillard, whom the White Sox once turned down as an infielder.

In the other game of the day Brooklyn beat Philadelphia 3 to 1 on the hitting of Gene Moore and seven-hit pitching of Luke Hamlin, who now has won three in a row.

The "Yorkshire" is one of the oldest financial companies in British Columbia, having been established in Huddersfield in 1887, and opened its head office for Canada in Vancouver in 1888. The founders of the company have proved their faith in British Columbia by the investment of many millions of dollars in the province since that time.

The chairman of the board of directors is George P. Norton, Huddersfield, Yorkshire; the managing director is Colonel Gilbert P. Norton, D.S.O., Huddersfield, and the directors are T. Blundell Brown, who is also a director of the British Empire Trust Company, London; T. C. Nicholson, Yorkshire; George Kidd and H. W. Dyson. On the Vancouver executive board are George Kidd, H. W. Dyson and F. H Wright.

The "Yorkshire" will conduct a general trust business in Victoria, and being one of the first companies to come under the operation of the British Columbia Trust Companies Act in 1915, it is well qualified by experience to act as executor and trustee. The Victoria office will be under the management of A. M. Robertson.
